

Women Take Advantage Of Credit Laws

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Backed by new federal laws, women are moving to establish independent lines of credit, buying and borrowing on an equal basis with men.

A spokesman for Diners Club said, for example, that the number of female cardholders with accounts in their own names "is up quite substantially from a year ago." He said 59,000 women had their own Diners Club cards as of Jan. 1, 1977, up 28 per cent from Jan. 1, 1976. In addition, almost 11 per cent of the new accounts opened by Diners Club last year were opened by women, up from 7 per cent in 1975 and 5 per cent in 1974.

Master Charge, the nation's largest bank card, had 14.4 million women cardholders in 1976, up 12.5 per cent from 12.8 million in 1974.

And Lea Ann Van Houten of Visa, formerly known as BankAmericard, said 37.2 per cent of the women cardholders questioned in a survey answered "yes" when asked: "Do you have a card in your own name?"

Women already make a majority of the country's credit purchases, according to Associated Credit Bureaus, Inc. Until recently, however, they often made the purchases with cards issued in their husband's names, even on joint accounts.

Since lenders traditionally reported to credit bureaus on joint accounts in the husband's name only, a woman who was divorced or widowed was nonexistent when it came to a credit rating.

All that is changing thanks to new laws and the increased number of working women who have more money of their own to spend. The Equal Credit Opportunity Act, passed in 1974, prohibited lenders from discriminating on the basis of sex or marital status. A provision that took effect June 1 requires information on joint accounts used by both spouses to be reported to credit agencies in the names of both husband and wife.

For new accounts, the dual reporting will be automatic. For existing accounts, the lender is required to send notices to all account holders by Oct. 1, advising them that they have the right to dual listings. If you want a joint account listed in both names, simply fill in the form and return it to the creditor.

Loan companies also are affected by women's growing credit independence. Commercial Credit Corp., a Baltimore-based company with between 800 and 900 offices in 47 states, reported that women accounted for 19 per cent of the number of outstanding loans as of February 1977, up from 16 per cent in 1975 and 11 per cent in 1971.

Authorities and lenders stress that the new laws do not guarantee credit to anyone; they simply guarantee equal opportunity. Here are some of the specific provisions:

—Creditors generally may not ask marital status if you apply for a separate, unsecured account. They may not demand a husband's signature on a wife's application for a separate credit account or vice versa. The ban does not apply in states with community property laws.

—Lenders must tell you that you do not have to reveal whether you receive alimony, child support or maintenance payments, unless you will rely on those payments as income to obtain credit.

—Creditors may not discount either spouse's income because of sex or marital status. Creditors also must count part-time income if it is shown to be reliable.

—Creditors may not ask about birth control practices or child-bearing plans. They may ask how many dependent children you have, since they may reflect financial obligations.

Teays Amateur Radio Operators Participate In World-Wide Day

By EMILIE CALDWELL

The Teays Amateur Radio Club participated in the annual World Wide amateur Radio League Communications Field Day, June 25-26, at A.W. Marion State Park. Twenty-five operators tried to establish as many contacts as possible with other ham radio operators during the 24 hour contest period. The Teays Amateur Radio Club contacted almost 500 other operators in 20 hours, as close as Columbus, and as far away as Los Angeles, California or Saskatchewan, Canada. The total number of contacts made will be reported to the World Wide Field Day Amateur Radio and Relay League and a report will be compiled, listing all the clubs who participated and their contacts.

Leonard Campbell, president of the local club, said the main idea of the competition was to be able to set up their radios, on a hillside for best reception, and operate them from portable generators.

Most radios operate on a maximum input of 2,000 watts, but the smaller hand held, battery operated model, operates on 2 watts.

A candidate for an amateur radio operator's license must pass a theory exam and a code speak test before he may operate a radio. George Myers and Matt Bell, members of the local club, have both been licensed ham radio operators for over 40 years.

In an emergency situation or disaster, a ham radio operator could be completely set up, anywhere, and operating within an hour. Being more than just a hobby, ham radio operators in Pennsylvania assisted flood victims in obtaining help, as Ohio amateur radio operators did during the Xenia disaster. The Central Ohio area is fortunate to have a local group and know that if a disaster should occur, someone will be there to help.

The Teays Amateur Radio Club, which was organized in February, is open for membership for any ham radio operator in the Central Ohio area. They meet the third Thursday of every month at 7:30, in the city building.

Storms Hit Wide Areas Of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Moderate to strong storms were scattered from western Texas across southern Oklahoma, northern Arkansas and the lower Ohio valley early Monday. The southern and central Atlantic Coast states also reported scattered thundershowers as well as portions of the upper Mississippi valley and northern Great Lakes. Most of the storms were of moderate intensity.

Last evening, strong thunderstorms were reported in Arkansas, Kentucky and southern Indiana. Alabama and North Dakota also reported some strong thunderstorms. One report, out of Owensboro, Ky., said that water was four feet deep in the streets.

Temperatures around the nation at 3 a.m. EDT ranged from 48 at Arcata, Calif. to 97 at Needles, Calif.

The national weather forecast for today: Thundershowers were likely over Kentucky, Tennessee, the western Carolinas and the northern sections of Alabama and Georgia. Scattered thundershowers were expected in the Ohio valley, lower Mississippi valley and south Atlantic coast. Isolated afternoon and evening thundershowers will dot the northern Rockies and northwestern Plains. Thundershowers are also expected over the upper Mississippi valley and western Great Lakes. Other areas of the nation were expected to be mostly sunny.

Temperatures should be in the 70s and 80s across the northern third of the nation and along the Pacific coast, but mostly in the 90s elsewhere. One hundred degree readings should extend from the interior of California into the desert Southwest and along the Mexican border into southwest Texas.

Jail Fire Toll At 42

COLUMBIA, Tenn. (AP) — Forty-two persons, 34 of them inmates trapped in their locked cells, were killed when a 16-year-old inmate set his foam rubber-padded cell afire, sending toxic fumes billowing through the Maury County Jail, authorities said.

Rescue of the victims was hampered when a deputy sheriff carrying keys to the jail's 12 cells collided with fleeing visitors and dropped the keys on the floor. It took him about 12 minutes to find the keys, officials said.

Dist. Atty. Gen. Robert H. Gay said following the fire that started about 2 p.m. Sunday that he planned to charge

Andy Zimmer, 16, with arson. Gay said he would ask to have Zimmer tried as an adult.

Zimmer was taken to a Nashville hospital and reported in critical condition, suffering from burns and smoke inhalation.

Authorities in Waukesha, Wis., said records show Zimmer, formerly of Superior, Wis., was reported missing from Lad Lake Inc., Doussman, Wis., a residential treatment center for emotionally disturbed teenagers.

Zimmer was removed from the jail's drunk tank on Saturday and placed in the padded cell because he had stuffed up a toilet and caused a flood, authorities said. State law requires that juveniles be segregated from adult prisoners and officials said the padded cell was the only other facility available.

Chief Deputy Bob Farmer said Zimmer was pulled from the jail's padded cell. "Me and another officer drug him out," Farmer said. "He said he set it."

Eight of the 42 victims were visitors leaving at the end of Sunday's one-hour visiting period. Six of the visitors were women.

There were 56 inmates in the jail at the time of the fire. Of the 22 who escaped, 19 were flown by helicopters to two hospitals in Nashville, about 60 miles north of Columbia, officials said.

Authorities said 18 other persons, including two firemen, were treated for injuries at local hospitals.

Gov. Ray Blanton, who flew over the fire in a helicopter, said, "We know it has to be one of the greatest tragedies we've ever had in Tennessee."

Blanton promised an investigation. "When you have 42 persons dead within a few minutes," he said, "you need to know why they were lost."

Authorities said the burning foam rubber in the padded cell spewed heavy smoke and toxic fumes, including carbon monoxide and possibly some cyanide gas, through an air duct system, setting off panic among the inmates and visitors.

The city's main fire station is about a block from the jail, which officials said did not have a fire alarm or contingency plans for evacuation in case of fire. Firemen arrived promptly but were driven back from rescue efforts by the dense, toxic smoke.

Rescuers seeking to get to the trapped inmates and prisoners used sledgehammers to punch holes in the concrete building. A tow truck arrived at the jail about 10 minutes after the fire was reported and was used to knock down one of the jail's walls in an effort to reach the trapped victims.

B1 Bomber's Fate In House, Carter Production Rulings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both Congress and President Carter are preparing to make crucial decisions this week that could determine whether the controversial B1 bomber has a future.

The House is to vote Tuesday on an effort to delete all production money for the B1 bomber from a $110.6-billion defense appropriation bill.

The appropriations measure also may be used as the vehicle for amendments that would outlaw assassinations and other interference in the affairs of other nations by U.S. intelligence agencies.

President Carter's aides say he plans to decide by the end of the week whether to put the strategic bomber into production or scrap it.

The House effort to chop all B1 production money out of the $110.6-billion defense bill is being led by Rep. Joseph P. Addabbo, D-N.Y., who said Carter should oppose the B1 as he promised he would during his presidential campaign.

"President Carter announced during his campaign that the B1 was not a viable weapon," Addabbo told the House in opening debate. "That same fact is true today."

House defeat of the money for the plane could influence Carter's decision but it cannot seal the plane's fate. Should the House delete the B1 funds, the Senate could still restore the money and the two chambers would have to reach a compromise.

In other action this week, the House is to vote Wednesday on setting up a new intelligence committee.

Carter and the intelligence agencies want one committee so they can limit the number of congressmen to whom they must report secret operations, thereby limiting the risk of leaks.

Rep. Bill D. Burlison, D-Mo., has introduced amendments to ban assassinations and foreign government interference by U.S. intelligence agents but his office said Friday he had made no final decision to press for votes on them.

The amendments would abolish the CIA's $35-million reserve fund, prohibit assassinations and outlaw U.S. intelligence operations aimed at influencing foreign elections or government actions.

The House is to vote Wednesday on a proposal to repeal last February's congressional payraise that sent salaries of lawmakers from $44,600 to $57,500. But the House Rules Committee may frame the issue so that congressmen would have to vote to repeal not only their own pay raise but also a corresponding pay raise for some 20,000 federal executives and judges.

Meanwhile, the Senate expects to spend most of the week on appropriations bills, starting with the $61.7-billion bill for the Labor Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Carter has suggested he might veto the measure as too costly.

It must decide whether to adopt an amendment to the bill aimed at permitting the use of federal funds for abortions in special cases.

The Senate also takes up a Watergate-inspired bill providing for court appointment of special prosecutors to investigate charges of wrongdoing against a president and other top federal officials.

Weather

A stationary front moving east to west over Ohio brings a chance of rain to Central Ohio through Tuesday. The forecast calls for increasing cloudy skies with a chance of rain or thundershowers likely by late afternoon and a high in the mid 80s, mostly cloudy and humid with rain or thundershowers likely tonight and tomorrow with a low near 60 and a high near 85. There is a 40 per cent chance of rain today and Tuesday and a 50 per cent chance tonight. The high Sunday was 90 and the low was 58.

Ms. Jordan, who gained national prominence as a member of the Judiciary Committee investigating the Watergate scandal, said a "diminished commitment" to woman's rights calls for new tactics and new strategy.

"We must organize politically at every level — county, state and national," she said. "If you don't have political clout, politicians won't listen to you. That's the way politics works."

Mom Hopes For Surrender In Slayings

LOCUST GROVE, Okla. (AP) — The mother of Gene Leroy Hart, charged with the slayings of three Girl Scouts, says if the evidence against him is as strong as authorities say, she'd "ask him to turn himself in" if she had any idea where he is.

"I'd even walk with him," Ella Mae Sullateskee Buckskin said Sunday.

"I just pray about it, that one of these days he might show up," Mrs. Buckskin, 51, said of the eldest of her seven sons.

"I think he's out of state. If he was around this part of Oklahoma I believe he'd come to anyone's house and ask for something to eat. He can't live off this land."

Mrs. Buckskin talked with two reporters Sunday afternoon before attending church in Tahlequah, 25 miles south of here.

Authorities have been searching a 40-square mile area of rough and low rolling hills for Hart, who was charged Thursday with the first-degree murder of the three Tulsa area Girl Scouts. The girls were beaten and sexually abused in the early hours of June 13 at summer camp here.

Meanwhile, sources close to the investigation said Sunday that at least one other possible suspect is being considered in the case. They would not elaborate.

Mrs. Buckskin said Sunday she last heard from her 33-year-old son in a letter from Canada dated November 25, 1973, after he had escaped from the Mayes County Jail where he had been serving time for rape and burglary.

Mom Hopes For Surrender In Slayings

LOCUST GROVE, Okla. (AP) — The mother of Gene Leroy Hart, charged with the slayings of three Girl Scouts, says if the evidence against him is as strong as authorities say, she'd "ask him to turn himself in" if she had any idea where he is.

"I'd even walk with him," Ella Mae Sultateskee Buckskin said Sunday.

"I just pray about it, that one of these days he might show up," Mrs. Buckskin, 51, said of the eldest of her seven sons.

"I think he's out of state. If he was around this part of Oklahoma I believe he'd come to anyone's house and ask for something to eat. He can't live off this land."

Mrs. Buckskin talked with two reporters Sunday afternoon before attending church in Tahlequah, 25 miles south of here.

Authorities have been searching a 40-square mile area of rough and low rolling hills for Hart, who was charged Thursday with the first-degree murder of the three Tulsa-area Girl Scouts. The girls were beaten and sexually abused in the early hours of June 13 at summer camp here.

Meanwhile, sources close to the investigation said Sunday that at least one other possible suspect is being considered in the case. They would not elaborate.

Mrs. Buckskin said Sunday she last heard from her 33-year-old son in a letter from Canada dated November 25, 1973, after he had escaped from the Mayes County Jail where he had been serving time for rape and burglary.

history, Democrats concocted the language bill and put into it numerous directives as to how Ohioans' tax dollars can be spent by the Republican administration.

Republicans have assailed the maneuver as being illegal, but Senate Finance Chairman Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, claims it was necessary to keep Rhodes' department heads from "squirreling away large amounts" of funds during the course of the upcoming biennium.

Meshel and Shoemaker both serve on the state Controlling Board, the legislature's spending watchdog. The Youngstown lawmaker said various departments and agencies were given a total of about $260 million more than they actually needed during this biennium.

His estimate was based on requests that came before the Controlling Board for authority to obligate unspent funds prior to July 1 by signing personal service contracts for services after July 1, Meshel said.

The state contracts for numerous types of services from private companies and individuals, for such things as patient care at state hospitals, and architectural and feasibility studies.

In order to tighten up further on the state agencies, Democrats utilized still

Djibouti Becomes Independent

DJIBOUTI (AP) — The republic of Djibouti, a Massachusetts-size patch of salt and sand at the southern end of the Red Sea, became Africa's 49th independent state early today amid fireworks and 21-gun salutes.

The new nation's future is threatened by its rival Marxist-ruled neighbors, Somalia and Ethiopia, and a lack of any natural resources except salt and its strategic location. It will depend on France, its colonial ruler for 115 years, for troops to protect it and economic aid to keep it alive.

President Hassan Gouled raised the republic's flag — green and blue with a red star — at one minute after midnight to open three days of independence celebrations. French warships in the harbor of the capital fired gun salutes and blew their sirens. There were fireworks and people chanted "Long Live Independence!" But the atmosphere generally was quiet and restrained.

Djibouti is coveted by Ethiopia because its capital is Ethiopia's chief port and the terminus of the Addis Ababa-Djibouti railroad. Somalia wants it because more than half of its 300,000 people are ethnic Somalis and it is part of the "Greater Somalia" which the Somali government is pledged to unite.

Western Europe, the United States, the Soviet Union, Israel and the Arabs are concerned about the control of Djibouti because it is situated on the south side of the Bab el Mandeb, the strait which connects the Suez Canal and Red Sea with the Gulf of Aden and the Indian Ocean. About 70 ships a day pass through the strait, including oil tankers and warships of many nations. The leader of Ethiopia's military government, Lt. Col. Mengistu Haile Mariam, told a rally in Addis Ababa on Saturday that Somalia has designs on Djibouti. Somali President Siad Barre has said it is Ethiopia which intends to take over Djibouti and Somalia has a duty to defend it.

Leaders of Somalia and Ethiopia were invited to the independence ceremonies but did not come. Some 15 countries, the United Nations, the Organization of African Unity and the Arab League are represented.

Formerly known as French Somaliland, Djibouti in 1967 was renamed the Territory of Afars and Issas, for its two major tribes. The Afars have ties with Ethiopia while the more numerous Issas, who provide Gouled's major support, are ethnic Somalis.

Gouled said the republic will pursue a neutral foreign policy. He said it will join the Arab League but will allow Israeli ships to use the strait.

another device in the appropriations bill. It also drew Republican skepticism.

In that bill—which is subject to line item vetoes by the governor—they simply laid out dollar amounts for individual programs and then did not insert division totals.

The way the budget process has worked in the past, the governor could reject an individual spending item, but leave the division total intact. This meant the agency got all the money the legislature intended, except that the directors then could spend the funds for the vetoed program at their discretion.

Now, anything Rhodes vetoes will reduce the appropriation accordingly.

Appraised of what was happening when the totals were deleted with amendments in the Senate Finance Committee, Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, called it "cute, but unconstitutional, in my opinion." However, he didn't cite constitutional

Girl Saves Dad's Life

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ten-year-old Jodi Kaepner, who wants to be a nurse, got some practical experience recently she hadn't counted on.

Her fifth grade health class training was a lifesaver for her father Donald, 49. When he complained of chest pains last month, Jodi recognized the early stages of a heart attack and nagged him into seeing a doctor.

"I thought those chest pains were only strain from painting the house," remembered Kaepner, who is recuperating at home after spending time in the intensive care unit at Mt. Carmel Hospital.

"I never believed they could be the start of a heart attack."

Jodi recalled the symptoms of heart attacks she learned in a course that concentrated on the respiratory system and heart.

Her father, a maintenance employee for the Worthington school system, started to take a walk after complaining about the chest pains. When he walked out the door, Jodi told her mother, "He's having a heart attack."

language to back his claim.

Mesher said he did not intend to single out the Rhodes Administration for criticism—"it's been happening no matter who was governor." But he said the new budget device "is our way of achieving the ultimate in legislative intent."

Dollar wise, Democrats in the Senate added more than $100 million in general revenue fund spending to the $8.7 billion authorized by the House, most of it hiking basic aid to education and providing a nominal increase in Aid to Dependent Children payments.

The remainder of the $13 billion outlay—compared to $12.2 billion this biennium—consists of federal money and various rotary funds containing fees paid for state services.

No Good Times, Jimmy Walker Says

HAMPTON, Va. (AP) — Television actor and comedian Jimmy "J. J." Walker, star of the "Good Times" series, says these are not good times and that he's not happy with his career.

"This is the first time I've thought of suicide. I can see suicide," Walker said in an interview during a local appearance as master of ceremonies for a jazz festival.

He plays the grinning and irrepressible teenager who bursts through the door of an imaginary Chicago public housing apartment every week. His tag line is "Dy-no-mite."

"The real frustration is that the Good Times image is really negative," said Walker.

Walker said he has approached producer Norman Lear more than once, asking to be let out of the series. But he said he's locked into it.

"We make money, but it's not fun. Our popularity is not a fun thing of popularity. I just don't want to be on it."

"Unfortunately in this society, America, we don't have a thinking society. It's a television society."

Canonization Celebrated

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Some 10,000 people joined Mayor Frank Rizzo and John Cardinal Krol to celebrate the canonization of this city's own saint, St. John Neumann, at a special outdoor mass.

Krol, who returned with Rizzo from canonization ceremonies June 19 in Rome, led 3,000 marchers Sunday in an offertory procession along Benjamin Franklin Parkway to an outdoor altar that had been set up in Logan Circle.

Gifts carried in the procession included a rice bowl, clothing and medicine, symbols of St. John Neumann's concern for the poor and the sick when he was fourth bishop of Philadelphia during the mid-19th Century.

Krol said St. John Neumann "is a symbol and proof that simple deeds in any state or walk of life... can lead to the attainment of heroic virtue — to holiness and sanctity."

another device in the appropriations bill. It also drew Republican skepticism.

In that bill—which is subject to line item vetoes by the governor—they simply laid out dollar amounts for individual programs and then did not insert division totals.

The way the budget process has worked in the past, the governor could reject an individual spending item, but leave the division total intact. This meant the agency got all the money the legislature intended, except that the directors then could spend the funds for the vetoed program at their discretion.

Now, anything Rhodes vetoes will reduce the appropriation accordingly.

Apprised of what was happening when the totals were deleted with amendments in the Senate Finance Committee, Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, called it "cute, but unconstitutional, in my opinion."

However, he didn't cite constitutional language to back his claim.

Meshele said he did not intend to single out the Rhodes Administration for criticism—"it's been happening no matter who was governor." But he said the new budget device "is our way of achieving the ultimate in legislative intent."

Dollar wise, Democrats in the Senate added more than $100 million in general revenue fund spending to the $8.7 billion authorized by the House, most of it hiking basic aid to education and providing a nominal increase in Aid to Dependent Children payments.

The remainder of the $13 billion outlay—compared to $12.2 billion this biennium—consists of federal money and various rotary funds containing fees paid for state services.

No Good Times, Jimmy Walker Says

HAMPTON, Va. (AP) — Television actor and comedian Jimmy "J. J." Walker, star of the "Good Times" series, says these are not good times and that he's not happy with his career.

"This is the first time I've thought of suicide. I can see suicide," Walker said in an interview during a local appearance as master of ceremonies for a jazz festival.

He plays the grinning and irrepressible teenager who bursts through the door of an imaginary Chicago public housing apartment every week. His tag line is "Dy-no-mite."

"The real frustration is that the Good Times image is really negative," said Walker.

Walker said he has approached producer Norman Lear more than once, asking to be let out of the series. But he said he's locked into it.

"We make money, but it's not fun. Our popularity is not a fun type of popularity. I just don't want to be on it."

"Unfortunately in this society, America, we don't have a thinking society. It's a television society."

Girl Saves Dad's Life

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ten-year-old Jodi Kaepfner, who wants to be a nurse, got some practical experience recently she hadn't counted on.

Her fifth grade health class training was a lifesaver for her father Donald, 49. When he complained of chest pains last month, Jodi recognized the early stages of a heart attack and nagged him into seeing a doctor.

"I thought those chest pains were only strain from painting the house," remembered Kaepfner, who is recuperating at home after spending time in the intensive care unit at Mt. Carmel Hospital.

"I never believed they could be the start of a heart attack."

Jodi recalled the symptoms of heart attacks she learned in a course that concentrated on the respiratory system and heart.

Her father, a maintenance employe for the Worthington school system, started to take a walk after complaining about the chest pains. When he walked out the door, Jodi told her mother, "He's having a heart attack."

Band Students Attend Camp

LAWRENCE — A total of 359 junior high school students from Kansas and 17 other states attended the 40th annual music sessions of the Midwestern Music and Art Camp at the University of Kansas, June 16 through June 24.

Participation in bands, chorus, orchestra, jazz ensembles and private study highlight the program. Recreational activities are included.

Attending from this area was Kimberly R. Lindsey, 8200 Brooks-Miller Road and Beth Darst, 8239 S. R. 316 West, Orient.

Faculty for the camp are from the University's School of Fine Arts, and staff members include both K. U. fine arts students and faculty.

The camp closed Friday with a series of concerts, all open to the public without charge. Opening the series at 10 a.m. in Swarthout Recital Hall in Murphy Hall, was a special concert by piano and vocal students at the camp.

The instrumental groups' concert began at 10:30 a.m. in the University Theatre in Murphy Hall with the Senior High Midwestern Music Festival Orchestra. This includes some junior high students and a group of 57 selected senior high school students invited to the campus to participate in specialized training this week.

The second part of the program was given by the Midwestern Music Festival Band, which includes junior high students and the selected senior high students.

At 1 p.m. in the University Theatre the vocal groups of the junior high camp presented a program in the following order: a cappella choir, concert choir, the junior high camp orchestra, the junior high concert band and the junior high symphonic band.

Canonization Celebrated

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Some 10,000 people joined Mayor Frank Rizzo and John Cardinal Krol to celebrate the canonization of this city's own saint, St. John Neumann, at a special outdoor mass.

Krol, who returned with Rizzo from canonization ceremonies June 19 in Rome, led 3,000 marchers Sunday in an offortory procession along Benjamin Franklin Parkway to an outdoor altar that had been set up in Logan Circle.

Gifts carried in the procession included a rice bowl, clothing and medicine, symbols of St. John Neumann's concern for the poor and the sick when he was fourth bishop of Philadelphia during the mid-19th Century.

Krol said St. John Neumann "is a symbol and proof that simple deeds in any state or walk of life ... can lead to the attainment of heroic virtue — to holiness and sanctity."

New Tax Prospecting

How Congress managed to overlook a value-added tax in the myriad ways it has found over the years to soak the taxpayers is something of a mystery. After all, there are income taxes, taxes on investments, inheritance taxes, payroll taxes, "emergency" excise taxes and ordinary excise taxes, but not yet a federal sales tax.

A value-added tax, one of the favored revenue producers in Europe, is a form of sales tax. It is added to products making their way through the manufacturing system — at every step of the way. Ultimately, a finished product may have many value-added taxes built into its cost, which the consumer pays.

Senate Finance Committee Chairman Russell Long mentioned a value-added tax almost in passing as a means of raising funds to bail out the Social Security system. Although there was no immediate reaction to the suggestion by Treasury officials, the mention of an untapped tax source is enough to keep it lurking in the background every time revenue problems arise.

A value-added tax would not help the cause of American exports, already out of balance with imports. That argument probably won't carry much weight with a taxing authority more interested in raising tax floors than lowering expenditure ceilings.

Its Old Faces

By JIM BISHOP

This country has always needed two strong political parties. It keeps the people in power honest. The "outs" are good watchdogs. The Republican Party, which lost the White House seven months ago, sees itself as no more than a carping gnat on the Democratic hide.

It needs fresh young leadership, innovative ideas, a philosophy of survival. They do not have it. The notion of 1976 that Gerald Ford "bought respectability to the White House" was a weak contrivance on two counts: (1) it led the voter to ask who betrayed respectability and that brought him to Richard Nixon; (2) Americans need more than a good family man in the Executive Mansion.

Almost everyone on Capitol Hill recognized Ford for what he was — a good Michigan congressman. Nixon selected him for vice president because of Ford's dull finish. "Contrast," the White House called it.

They called Jimmy Carter "fuzzy" and a "flipflop." To the amazement of party wheelhorse, it almost worked. The Republicans almost won. After November, I thought they would unite their ranks and that the old losers would find some new unsold faces.

It was not to be. Ford is not content with being the only unelected president. He wants to run again in 1980. Ronald Reagan, who might have won, tries to destroy the Democrats with a quip: "I deny that we're running out of everything these days - energy, food, space, even love."

Bill Brock, the new chairman of the G.O.P., knows that his party must achieve two things merely to get back into the fight: shed the image that the Republican Party is an ally of big business, and bring blacks into the party.

What has he done? In seven months he devised a 30-minute NBC show called "Energy: Another View." For counsel he brought in Mark Goode, Nixon's TV expert, to design it. The result was an airing of old faces, many of whom are still fighting the last campaign.

Senator John Danforth of Missouri stood on a roof and assured America "The sky is not falling." The G.O.P. interviewed 10 "man-in-the-street" types, of whom four were black. One, asked about Carter's standby gasoline tax, became eloquent. "It stinks," he said.

It is an immutable truth that Richard Nixon brought the party to its knees. He reopened gangrenous wounds when he chose to earn a million dollars fencing with David Frost. The Republican Party is going to have to survive this man. It can be done by ignoring him.

However, Senator Robert Dole spoke for the record. "I think he has had a sort of coming out," he said. "I think he has broken the ice. I think we may see more of former President Nixon." Gerald Ford was asked about the Nixon shoot-em-up. Had Nixon's sly admissions given him second thoughts about the pardon. "None whatsoever. The more I see of Nixon's replies, the more I'm convinced that my reason for the pardon was validated."

As a Washington watcher, I was certain that the Republicans could and would attack much of the Carter program, and might even come up with a better package. One thing they might not challenge was Carter's proposal of a Consumer Protection Agency. This would be akin to degrading motherhood because the idea of a CPA is to protect 213 million Americans against being robbed.

Ford said, "None of us denies that consumer protection is a worthy goal." Always wait for the but. "But there is a serious question in my mind about whether creating another government bureaucracy will achieve that goal."

Dear reader, it doesn't matter what your party affiliations are, this nation needs two strong political organizations. Since November, the polls show the Carter Administration growing stronger and stronger in the affections of the voter. The most recent one showed about 66 per cent approval.

This can be translated as 34 per cent approval of the G.O.P. It will do better if some of the old faces fade from stage center. Too many of those gentlemen - Goldwater, Ford, Nixon, Dole - shoot from the hip without thinking out their positions.

In these days of voter sophistication, no one is seduced by a quip. There are no men who wear white hats or black hats. All are in shades of gray, and all of them realize that this country must submit to discipline if it is to survive.

Criticism for the sake of criticism is not the road to success. Neither is a "Me-Too" attitude. The Democrats do not have a monopoly on intelligence, loyalty and honor. Where, oh where, are those new faces? . . .

Advent Of UFOs Now 30 Years Old

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — There were nine of them, shiny, pulsating objects flying over the Cascade Mountains as fast as 1,700 miles per hour. Kenneth Arnold was the first person to report seeing "flying saucers" — 30 years ago Saturday.

The publicity-shy Arnold, now 62, makes a rare public appearance tonight to give the keynote address to a three-day international conference on unidentified flying objects, UFOs, in Chicago.

Arnold, a Boise, Idaho, businessman, was flying his two-seater plane from Chehalis to Yakima on June 24, 1947, when he saw the objects over Mt. Rainier, moving in a strange weaving motion.

"They seemed to be alive in the center, to have the ability to change their density. I know that sounds strange," said Arnold.

"No, I have never claimed to have seen any little men in them. Others have, not me. I didn't want to exploit anyone, and I didn't want to be exploited."

Soon after Arnold's report, UFOs became a craze. The flying saucer term was coined. Everybody seemed to be seeing them. Arnold says he has seen UFOs six times since the first sighting.

To celebrate the anniversary, the New Age Foundation, a UFO group in the Northwest, plans lectures, a salmon bake and a skywatch near the 14,410-foot Mt. Rainier.

Recent Gallup polls show 51 per cent of Americans believe in UFOs. A 1973 Gallup survey found 15 million Americans who claimed to have seen them.

The Air Force, in its Project Blue Book — which investigated thousands of UFO sightings — concluded that some UFO reports were hard to explain, although no national security threat was found.

Now semiretired in Meridian, Idaho, Arnold thinks the UFO phenomenon is grounded in age-old human experience.

Arnold said a model he made of what he saw paralleled what Ezekiel described in the Bible. He said he saw 100-year-old drawings in the British Museum almost identical to what he saw.

Arnold said he once took movies of two UFOs flying under his light plane, at tree-top level, near California's Mt. Lassen.

His description has remained constant. The craft flew erratically, "like speedboats on rough water," cruising both flat and sideways. They were circular, pulsated like fireflies in the center and traveled at great speeds.

Police Chief Seeks Prisoners

FORT MILL, S.C. (AP) — Police Chief Floyd Foss wants more prisoners for his new jail.

He says the facility, open only 22 months, has space for 19 persons but the average daily population is one. Foss is applying to the U.S. Bureau of Prisons to use the jail to house federal inmates.

He said a requirement for federal facilities is that three meals a day be furnished, but that anyone now in his jail gets sandwiches three times a day. But he says he could provide TV dinners that are better for less money than the sandwiches.

Former Bluffton President Dies

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Former Bluffton College President Dr. Lloyd L. Ramseyer died of a heart attack Friday night while at a United Methodist Church camp near New Webster, Ind. He was 77.

Ramseyer was president of Bluffton between 1938 and 1965. He taught at the college for several years after that before retiring.

An ordained minister, Ramseyer was a 1924 graduate of Bluffton. He received his masters and doctorate degrees at Ohio State University.

He is survived by his wife, two sons and a daughter.

Natural gas was once regarded as a hindrance and vast quantities were burned as waste, says the National Geographic Society.

"I'll feel better if you'll tell me just what kind of work you're doing down at the laboratory!"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester I. Coleman, M.D.

My husband has diabetes. He takes insulin. He insists that he can eat everything because he is "covered" by the insulin. Is it safe for him to go on these food binges?

Mrs. S.S., Wash.

Dear Mrs. S.:

Before the discovery of insulin, a strict diet was the only way to control diabetes, since this disease is, in essence, an inability to properly use carbohydrates or sugar.

Following the discovery of insulin, the strict diabetic diet has been modified. Yet, even with insulin and drugs taken by mouth, the cornerstone of all treatment for diabetes still remains the well-controlled diet.

There is no single, universal diet that will be right for all diabetics. This varies and depends on how stable the condition is.

An occasional departure from a diet is understandable. But your husband's blanket statement that he can eat anything as long as he takes his insulin is totally false.

The controlled diabetic has the best chance of sustained good health and normal longevity. It is for this reason that constant control and supervision by the physician is imperative.

I fell recently and hurt the bottom of my spine. When the doctor examined me he told me that I had a cyst there which needs surgery. How can an injury like a fall create a cyst?

Mr. E.L., S.C.

Dear Mr. L.:

Your curiosity is justified. Actually, the cyst had been present for a long time. Since it didn't bother you, you weren't aware of its presence.

A "pilonidal" cyst is usually due to a slight birth defect. Many years can go by and it can remain unnoticed. In some people, a tiny lump may form at the base of the spine. From this a slight yellow discharge may flow.

Following injury or infection, the cyst can become enlarged and painful. This is apparently what has happened in your case. Surgical removal of the cyst is not complicated. The results are excellent.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH . . .

Almost all cities have a poison control center. Hospitals, too, are equipped to handle such emergencies. The telephone numbers should be in a prominent place.

Saving Farm Jobs Become Hot Topic

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government may try to work out a system requiring federally subsidized researchers at universities to give advance notice of the development of new farm machines which might cost agricultural workers their jobs.

Labor Secretary Ray Marshall says he is inclined to favor such a requirement. He said he intends to check into it with Agriculture Department officials.

The subject came up Thursday at a meeting of Rural America, Inc., a non-profit lobbying organization. A questioner from California asked whether the Labor Department could do something about the sudden introduction of harvesting and other machines developed by land grant schools which displace farm workers.

"Since these universities are heavily funded by the Department of Agriculture, we ought to be able to work with them in trying to prevent just that thing," Marshall said.

"You've put your hand on the history of rural America, that most of our policies through time have displaced people from farming with no thought of the consequences," he said.

Marshall indicated he would have a check made with USDA to see "if we can't work out a program to require early warning on the introduction of those things that are subsidized at government expense."

The California legislature recently killed a proposal to tax mechanical harvesters and machine-picked crops. The plan called for the tax money to be used for paying extended unemployment benefits to workers displaced by machines.

Marshall said that farm workers are not alone in feeling the impact of mechanization or other forms of competition. Sudden increases in imports can affect industrial workers the same way, he said.

It's National Irrelevant Week

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Not that it matters, but this has been National Irrelevant Week.

Paul Salata is the father of Irrelevant Week, a yearly period of fun and absurdity celebrated by a group of fun lovers in the Newport Beach area.

Salata's hero of the year is a football player named Jim Kelleher, a University of Colorado fullback who was the 335th and last player chosen in this year's college football draft.

Kelleher was presented with some gifts, including some clothes, baggage and a 1976 calendar from a savings and loan association.

Also on hand, appropriately enough, was Steve Ford, son of former President Gerald R. Ford. He presented Kelleher a bagful of "Ford for President" buttons.

"They're certainly irrelevant now," the young Ford said, "but you never know what 1980."

This country has always needed two strong political parties. It keeps the people in power honest. The "outs" are good watchdogs. The Republican Party, which lost the White House seven months ago, sees itself as no more than a carping gnat on the Democratic hide.

It needs fresh young leadership, innovative ideas, a philosophy of survival. They do not have it. The notion of 1976 that Gerald Ford "bought respectability to the White House" was a weak contrivance on two counts: (1) it lead the voter to ask who betrayed respectability and that brought him to Richard Nixon; (2) Americans need more than a good family man in the Executive Mansion.

Almost everyone on Capitol Hill recognized Ford for what he was — a good Michigan congressman. Nixon selected him for vice president because of Ford's dull finish. "Contrast," the White House called it.

They called Jimmy Carter "fuzzy" and a "flipflop." To the amazement of party wheelhorse, it almost worked. The Republicans almost won. After November, I thought they would unite their ranks and that the old losers would find some new unsullied faces.

It was not to be. Ford is not content with being the only unelected president. He wants to run again in 1980. Ronald Reagan, who might have won, tries to destroy the Democrats with a quip: "I deny that we're running out of everything these days — energy, food, space, even love."

Bill Brock, the new chairman of the G.O.P., knows that his party must achieve two things merely to get back into the fight: shed the image that the Republican Party is an ally of big business, and bring blacks into the party.

What has he done? In seven months he devised a 30-minute NBC show called "Energy: Another View." For counsel he brought in Mark Goode, Nixon's TV expert, to design it. The result was an airing of old faces, many of whom are still fighting the last campaign.

Senator John Danforth of Missouri stood on a roof and assured America "The sky is not falling." The G.O.P. interviewed 10 "man-in-the-street" types, of whom four were black. One, asked about Carter's standby gasoline tax, became eloquent. "It stinks," he said.

It is an immutable truth that Richard Nixon brought the party to its knees. He reopened gangrenous wounds when he chose to earn a million dollars fencing with David Frost. The Republican Party is going to have to survive this man. It can be done by ignoring him.

However, Senator Robert Dole spoke for the record. "I think he has had a sort of coming out," he said. "I think he has broken the ice. I think we may see more of former President Nixon." Gerald Ford was asked about the Nixon shoot-'em-up. Had Nixon's sly admissions given him second thoughts about the pardon. "None whatsoever. The more I see of Nixon's replies, the more I'm convinced that my reason for the pardon was validated."

As a Washington watcher, I was certain that the Republicans could and would attack much of the Carter program, and might even come up with a better package. One thing they might not challenge was Carter's proposal of a Consumer Protection Agency. This would be akin to degrading motherhood because the idea of a CPA is to protect 213 million Americans against being robbed.

Ford said, "None of us denies that consumer protection is a worthy goal." Always wait for the but. "But there is a serious question in my mind about whether creating another government bureaucracy will achieve that goal."

Dear reader, it doesn't matter what your party affiliations are, this nation needs two strong political organizations. Since November, the polls show the Carter Administration growing stronger and stronger in the affections of the voter. The most recent one showed about 66 per cent approval.

This can be translated as 34 per cent approval of the G.O.P. It will do better if some of the old faces fade from stage center. Too many of those gentlemen — Goldwater, Ford, Nixon, Dole — shoot from the hip without thinking out their positions.

In these days of voter sophistication, no one is seduced by a quip. There are no men who wear white hats or black hats. All are in shades of gray, and all of them realize that this country must submit to discipline if it is to survive.

Criticism for the sake of criticism is not the road to success. Neither is a "Me-Too" attitude. The Democrats do not have a monopoly on intelligence, loyalty and honor. Where, oh where, are those new faces? . . .

Advent Of UFOs Now 30 Years Old

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — There were nine of them, shiny, pulsating objects flying over the Cascade Mountains as fast as 1,700 miles per hour. Kenneth Arnold was the first person to report seeing "flying saucers" — 30 years ago Saturday.

The publicity-shy Arnold, now 62, makes a rare public appearance tonight to give the keynote address to a three-day international conference on unidentified flying objects, UFOs, in Chicago.

Arnold, a Boise, Idaho, businessman, was flying his two-seater plane from Chehalis to Yakima on June 24, 1947, when he saw the objects over Mt. Rainier, moving in a strange weaving motion.

"They seemed to be alive in the center, to have the ability to change their density. I know that sounds strange," said Arnold.

"No, I have never claimed to have seen any little men in them. Others have, not me. I didn't want to exploit anyone, and I didn't want to be exploited."

Soon after Arnold's report, UFOs became a craze. The flying saucer term was coined. Everybody seemed to be seeing them. Arnold says he has seen UFOs six times since the first sighting.

To celebrate the anniversary, the New Age Foundation, a UFO group in the Northwest, plans lectures, a salmon bake and a skywatch near the 14,410-foot Mt. Rainier.

Recent Gallup polls show 51 per cent of Americans believe in UFOs. A 1973 Gallup survey found 15 million Americans who claimed to have seen them.

The Air Force, in its Project Blue Book — which investigated thousands of UFO sightings — concluded that some UFO reports were hard to explain, although no national security threat was found.

Now semiretired in Meridian, Idaho, Arnold thinks the UFO phenomenon is grounded in age-old human experience.

Arnold said a model he made of what he saw paralleled what Ezekiel described in the Bible. He said he saw 100-year-old drawings in the British Museum almost identical to what he saw.

Arnold said he once took movies of two UFOs flying under his light plane, at tree-top level, near California's Mt. Lassen.

His description has remained constant. The craft flew erratically, "like speedboats on rough water," cruising both flat and sideways. They were circular, pulsated like fireflies in the center and traveled at great speeds.

Police Chief Seeks Prisoners

FORT MILL, S.C. (AP) — Police Chief Floyd Foss wants more prisoners for his new jail.

He says the facility, open only 22 months, has space for 19 persons but the average daily population is one.

Foss is applying to the U.S. Bureau of Prisons to use the jail to house federal inmates.

He said a requirement for federal facilities is that three meals a day be furnished, but that anyone now in his jail gets sandwiches three times a day.

But he says he could provide TV dinners that are better for less money than the sandwiches.

Former Bluffton President Dies

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Former Bluffton College President Dr. Lloyd L. Ramseyer died of a heart attack Friday night while at a United Methodist Church camp near New Webster, Ind. He was 77.

Ramseyer was president of Bluffton between 1938 and 1965. He taught at the college for several years after that before retiring.

An ordained minister, Ramseyer was a 1924 graduate of Bluffton. He received his masters and doctorate degrees at Ohio State University.

He is survived by his wife, two sons and a daughter.

Natural gas was once regarded as a hindrance and vast quantities were burned as waste, says the National Geographic Society.

New HUD Money Slated For Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An additional $15.6 million in housing assistance funds to help an estimated 3,140 low income families acquire rental housing has been allocated to Ohio by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Paul Lydens, director of the HUD area office in Columbus, says the 41-county central Ohio area under his office would receive $4.2 million as its share of the supplemental state allocation.

Separate funding allocations have been made to the Cincinnati and Cleveland HUD Insuring offices, Lydens said. Cincinnati's funding for the 11 counties under its jurisdiction is $3.7 million and Cleveland will receive $7.7 for its 36 counties, he said.

The program provides a rent subsidy for low income families to help them afford decent housing in the private market. HUD also provides direct loans for housing for the elderly or handicapped to eligible, private, nonprofit sponsors to finance rental or cooperative housing facilities.

Several Resignations Accepted At Westfall

During the Westfall Board of Education meeting June 20, the board accepted resignations from school personnel leaving openings in the following areas: Learning Disabilities class at Jackson, Music at Darby, English at the Middle School, Title I Reading at Jackson, and two bus drivers.

Employed was Sally Orihood from elementary physical education to high school physical education and girls basketball coaching; Judy Gatewood from elementary EMR to Learning Disabilities class at Jackson; Deborah Allen from part-time elementary music to full time elementary music; Allison Chenoweth, BS from Ohio State University, no previous experience, for elementary physical education; Deborah Maxwell, BS from Ohio State University, no experience, for high school English; Mary Hemmelgarn, BS from Ohio State University, no experience, for elementary EMR; and Norma Sutton, BS from Ohio University, 11 years experience, for elementary position.

The board adopted the State minimum salary schedules for teaching and non-teaching personnel for 1977-78 contract year.

Farm Program Jobs To Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The last two weeks of July appear to be the critical period for enactment of a general farm bill by Congress, the American Farm Bureau Federation said.

House-Senate conferees expect to resolve their differences during the week of July 18th. They hope to have final passage in time for President Carter's signature the week of July 25th, just prior to the Congressional recess the first week in August, the federation said.

Grandma Gatewood Hiking Trail To Be Dedicated At Evans Farm

RIO GRANDE — Grandma Gatewood, a legendary lady from Gallia County who hiked the entire Appalachian Trail from Georgia to Maine at the age of 69, will be remembered Saturday, July 9, at dedication ceremonies for a new "Grandma Gatewood hiking trail on Bob Evans Farm.

The approximately 5 kilometer trail is one of four hiking, backpacking, and bridal trails opened on the sausage-maker's farm this summer. In keeping with the vitality of Grandma Gatewood, the Gatewood trail is the most rugged and challenging.

Originally from Racoon Creek, Ohio, Grandma Gatewood was born Emma Rowena Caldwell in 1887. She grew up in a log house as the middle child of a farm family of 15. She later had 11 children of her own and spent the majority of her life cooking, gardening, doing the laundry, and raising children.

But instead of retiring to a rocking chair after a long life of work, Grandma Gatewood took up distance hiking. At the age of 67 she became the first woman to walk the 2,000 mile Appalachian Trail consecutively in one season. She hiked the entire distance alone, covering an average of 13 miles per day in slow gait, for 146 days. The year was 1954 and Grandma Gatewood was just getting started.

In 1956 she hiked the Appalachian Trail from one end to the other again. She later tackled long stretches of the trail in 1957, 1958, 1960 and in 1963. Rapidly she became well known to many of the residents along the route, a legend among hikers. Everyone knew her and spoke of her as "Grandma".

Grandma's hiking equipment and techniques were as unique as she was. She shunned conventional hiking gear and chose instead sneakers and a denim sack, which contained her trailside essentials. In it she carried such things as a sweater, jacket, needle and thread, a Swiss Army knife, flashlight, first-aid supplies, a spoon, and soap and towel.

She carried simple lightweight foodstuffs--cheese, dried meat, bouillon cubes, powdered milk, raisins, nuts or crackers. These were the mainstay of her diet while on the trail. At night she slept in trailside lean-tos, under a tree, in a barn or in a home near the trail.

Grandma Gatewood died in 1973 at the age of 85, but not before she had hiked all of the famous eastern trails and several paths out West.

Some of her relatives, friends and amateur hikers from across Ohio will be on hand for a special dedication ceremony of the newly cut Grandma Gatewood Trail on the Bob Evans Farm at 1 p.m., July 9.

Two other hiking trails on the farm are the Adamsville Trail, named after the now defunct Gallia County Village, and the Nehemiah Wood Trail, the namesake of an early settler on the farm.

These crisscross a challenging Bridal Trail and are now open to the public for day and overnight trips plus primitive camping in the simple and natural tradition of Grandma Gatewood. With few exceptions hiking and camping supplies are limited to what an individual can carry, either on his back or by horseback. As a result the rolling hills of the farm offer visitors a remote and natural experience unique to this part of the Midwest.

Trail use is free although visitors are asked to register at Adamsville Outfitters Shop located on the Bob Evans Farm. The shop is equipped to rent or sell tents, backpacks, cooking and eating utensils, and dehydrated foods to individuals or groups in need of equipment.

In addition to backpacking--hourly, daily and overnight horseback trips are available. Overnight trips include two paid for meals, singing around the campfire, and a three hour ride to and from camp. These depart each Tuesday and Friday evening in groups from 6 to 20.

Bloodmobile Collects 140 Units

There were 140 units of blood collected during the Friday visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile from 152 registered donors.

Although the goal of 150 units was not met, the near success of the visit was almost entirely due to the efforts of three volunteers who spent many hours telephoning local residents in an attempt to recruit sufficient donors to meet the goal.

Blood program officials expressed special thanks to Laura Hutzelman, Joanne Perry, and Florence Spangler for their efforts, and to the donors who responded to their pleas.

Several lives may have been saved, the officials said.

Food service was sponsored by the Saltcreek Valley Grange. Members who assisted were Gladys Hedges, Rose Minor, Mary DeLong, Becky Timmons, Doris Edwards, Paul Dunkle, Carol Reichelderfer, Alma Miller, and Mary Clark.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Warm and humid conditions are expected to mark Ohio's weather through much of this week, along with a chance of showers, the National Weather Service said.

Showers and thundershowers are forecast to move through southern and central Ohio today, reaching northern Ohio counties and Lake Erie by late tonight.

A cold front approaching from the northwest will probably reach the state on Wednesday. But it is expected to stall and then move north again as a warm front. As a result, no cool air is likely to come into Ohio during the next five days.

High pressure maintained sunny and dry weather over Ohio on Sunday, but the system is moving east. Skies were clear but clouds began to increase over southwestern counties during Sunday night.

The only rain in the state Sunday occurred near Chesapeake, and it totalled just .01 of an inch.

As the high pressure moves east, the air will become more humid and there will be an increased threat of showers. But temperatures will show only minor changes from those of Sunday.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Warm and humid conditions are expected to mark Ohio's weather through much of this week, along with a chance of showers, the National Weather Service said.

Showers and thundershowers are forecast to move through southern and central Ohio today, reaching northern Ohio counties and Lake Erie by late tonight.

A cold front approaching from the northwest will probably reach the state on Wednesday. But it is expected to stall and then move north again as a warm front. As a result, no cool air is likely to come into Ohio during the next five days.

High pressure maintained sunny and dry weather over Ohio on Sunday, but the system is moving east. Skies were clear but clouds began to increase over southwestern counties during Sunday night.

The only rain in the state Sunday occurred near Chesapeake, and it totalled just .01 of an inch.

As the high pressure moves east, the air will become more humid and there will be an increased threat of showers. But temperatures will show only minor changes from those of Sunday.

Reds, Dodgers Split June 'World Series'

By BARY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

A World Series in June? That's what the Los Angeles Dodgers' players thought of the four-game series they played in Cincinnati over the weekend.

The top teams in the National League West split their Sunday doubleheader, the Reds capturing the opener 5-4 and the Dodgers rebounding to take the nightcap 9-3. That meant a split of the series for the Dodgers, who maintained an 81-2 game lead over the Reds.

"It was just like the World Series," said Los Angeles second baseman

Dave Lopes. "It was the four most important games we've played this year."

Dodgers Manager Tom Lasorda concurred with Lopes.

"The whole series was exciting, it was the equal of any World Series," said an ecstatic Lasorda after the Dodgers' second game triumph. "I was impressed with the way the players came back after being beaten in the first game."

Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson expects the Reds to bounce back and catch the Dodgers before the season is over.

"We've got to play like hell," admitted Anderson, "but the season ain't over. We've got to win seven of our last nine against them and pick up some more games someplace else."

Dan Driessen's three hits and eighth homer of the season paced the Reds to their first-game victory while Steve Garvey's two home runs and Doug Rau's eight-hit pitching helped the Dodgers gain a split in the twinbill.

Elsewhere in the National League, Chicago took its sixth straight victory with a 5-2 decision over New York; Atlanta also won its sixth in a row with an 8-5 triumph over San Diego; Montreal snapped the Pirates six-game victory string by taking the second half of their doubleheader 6-3 after Pittsburgh won the opener 7-4; San Francisco's Ed Halicki blanked Houston 2-0 and Philadelphia shut out St. Louis 2-0.

Cubs 5, Mets 2

Bobby Murcer and Steve Ontiveros hit home runs to lift the rampaging Cubs past the sliding Mets. The victory increased Chicago's NL East lead over Pittsburgh to 7 1-2 games while the Mets fell back into last place in the division, 17 games behind the Cubs.

In addition to his homer, Murcer had a sacrifice fly in support of rookie Mike Krukow, 7-4.

Braves 8, Padres 5

Home runs by Jeff Burroughs, Willie Montanez and Darrel Chaney backed Phil Niekro as the Braves swept their three-game series with San Diego, which has lost six straight. Niekro, 6-9, lost his first six decisions this year.

Pirates 7-3, Expos 4-6

Pittsburgh won the opener when Al Oliver broke a 4-4 tie in the eighth inning with his ninth homer. The blast came off Expos ace Steve Rogers, 9-6.

The Expos won the second game when Warren Cromartie singled in two runs off Pittsburgh relief ace Rich Gossage, 6-5, in the eighth. The Pirates had taken a 3-0 lead, partially built on Bill Robinson's two-run homer.

Stan Bahnsen and Will McEnaney combined on a six-hitter, with McEnaney gaining his second victory in three decisions.

Giants 2, Astros 0

Halicki's six-hitter stymied the Astros. Halicki, 7-6, struck out five and walked just one. He helped his own cause with a run-scoring double in the fifth, when the Giants scored both runs.

Phillies 2, Cardinals 0

Home runs by Mike Schmidt and Garry Maddox helped veteran left-hander Jim Kaat register his 250th career triumph. Kaat, 3-5, checked St. Louis on nine singles and struck out four before being replaced in the ninth.

Schmidt's homer, his 20th of the season and 13th in his last 19 games, came in the fourth off loser Larry Dierker, 1-4. Maddox belted his sixth homer in the fifth.

Clippers Split Twinbill Sunday

The Columbus Clippers went over the 200,000 mark in attendance Sunday as 7,646 persons attended a doubleheader with the Tidewater Tides.

The teams split the twinbill, Tidewater taking the first game 5-3 and the Clippers winning the nightcap by a 6-2 margin. The total attendance thus far this season is 203,768.

The 1955 Jets drew 204,531 persons, and in 1959, 204,257 paid to see the Jets. Those seasons mark the only other times that Columbus baseball has had over 203,768 in attendance.

Onasis At Scioto

Onasis, a pacer owned by Jim Hamman of Williamsport, is campaigning at Scioto Downs and picked up his second win of the season last week.

He paced the mile in 2:03.3 and has a lifetime record of 2:02.3.

IN THE TURN — Participants in Sunday's AMA Camel Pro series motorcycle race at the State Fairgrounds are pictured above as they roar into the first turn of the first lap of the 20 lap race. Number one is Jay Springsteen, the leader for 18 laps of the race. Behind Springsteen is Ted Booty.

Number 62 is Corky Keener, and number 72 is the eventual winner, Mike Kidd. Kidd went low on the backside of the 18th lap and took the lead from Springsteen. Although finishing second, Springsteen still increased his point lead over Booty with a 114-102 margin.

Pro Tennis Needs Leadership

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Fifteen or 20 years ago when no red-blooded male would be caught dead in public with a tennis racket and the sport was gasping from stiffness and snobbery, U.S. court fathers began looking around desperately for a stimulant.

What they needed, they said, was some sort of a czar, similar to the commissioners in baseball and football, who might bring the game up to top spectator status.

Their search led inevitably to the offices of Fred Corcoran, the man who largely had been responsible for the explosion in pro golf.

"First of all," the thick-necked Boston Irishman said, "you have to knock down those barriers against professionals."

"You must have open tennis. Remember it was the sight of Bob Jones beating Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen and the other leading pros that brought the golf boom in the 1920s and 1930s."

The reaction was immediate shock. Recovering, one of the executives of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association adjusted his striped tie, flicked an imaginary piece of lint from his blue jacket and replied coldly.

"Never," he said. "Open tennis is out of the question."

Corcoran turned down the job.

Fred Corcoran died at his home in Westchester County, N.Y., last week.

He left behind a legacy of imaginative sports promotion and public relations — particularly in golf — that may never be matched in our time. He lived to see his prophesy regarding tennis fulfilled.

Unable to resist growing commercial pressures and a national fetish for physical fitness, the racket sport went open in 1968. The move triggered a phenomenal boom. In a few years, the number of players in America alone rose from an estimated five million to 30 million to 50 million, depending on whose surveys you believe.

Complexes grew like cabbages. Resorts found they could not build courts fast enough. Equipment companies had to undertake emergency expansion to meet demands. Prize money escalated.

Stan Bahnsen and Will McEneaney combined on a six-hitter, with McEneaney gaining his second victory in three decisions.

Giants 2, Astros 0

Halicki's six-hitter stymied the Astros. Halicki, 7-6, struck out five and walked just one. He helped his own cause with a run-scoring double in the fifth, when the Giants scored both runs.

Phillies 2, Cardinals 0

Home runs by Mike Schmidt and Garry Maddox helped veteran left-hander Jim Kaat register his 250th career triumph. Kaat, 3-5, checked St. Louis on nine singles and struck out four before being replaced in the ninth.

Schmidt's homer, his 20th of the season and 13th in his last 19 games, came in the fourth off loser Larry Dierker, 1-4. Maddox belted his sixth homer in the fifth.

Clippers Split

Twinbill Sunday

The Columbus Clippers went over the 200,000 mark in attendance Sunday as 7,646 persons attended a doubleheader with the Tidewater Tides.

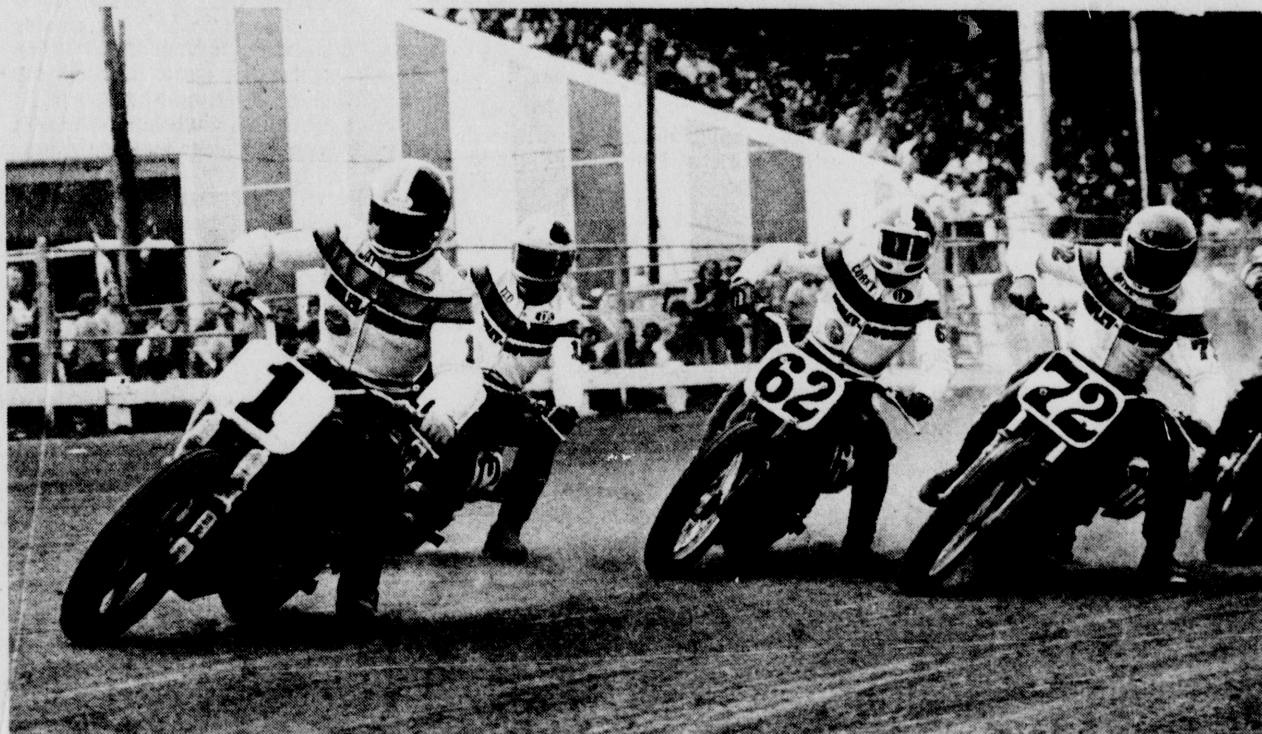

The teams split the twinbill, Tidewater taking the first game 5-3 and the Clippers winning the nightcap by a 6-2 margin. The total attendance thus far this season is 203,768.

The 1955 Jets drew 204,531 persons, and in 1959, 204,257 paid to see the Jets. Those seasons mark the only other times that Columbus baseball has had over 203,768 in attendance.

Onasis At Scioto

Onasis, a pacer owned by Jim Hamman of Williamsport, is campaigning at Scioto Downs and picked up his second win of the season last week.

He paced the mile in 2:03.3 and has a lifetime record of 2:02.3.

IN THE TURN — Participants in Sunday's AMA Camel Pro series motorcycle race at the State Fairgrounds are pictured above as they roar into the first turn of the first lap of the 20 lap race. Number one is Jay Springsteen, the leader for 18 laps of the race. Behind Springsteen is Ted Booty.

Number 62 is Corky Keener, and number 72 is the eventual winner, Mike Kidd. Kidd went low on the backside of the 18th lap and took the lead from Springsteen. Although finishing second, Springsteen still increased his point lead over Booty with a 114-102 margin.

Pro Tennis Needs Leadership

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Fifteen or 20 years ago when no red-blooded male would be caught dead in public with a tennis racket and the sport was gasping from stuffiness and snobbery, U.S. court fathers began looking around desperately for a stimulant.

What they needed, they said, was some sort of a czar, similar to the commissioners in baseball and football, who might bring the game up to top spectator status.

Their search led inevitably to the offices of Fred Corcoran, the man who largely had been responsible for the explosion in pro golf.

"First of all," the thick-necked Boston Irishman said, "you have to knock down those barriers against professionals."

"You must have open tennis. Remember it was the sight of Bob Jones beating Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen and the other leading pros that brought the golf boom in the 1920s and 1930s."

The reaction was immediate shock. Recovering, one of the executives of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association adjusted his striped tie, flicked an imaginary piece of lint from his blue jacket and replied coldly. "Never," he said. "Open tennis is out of the question."

Corcoran turned down the job.

Fred Corcoran died at his home in Westchester County, N.Y., last week. He left behind a legacy of imaginative sports promotion and public relations — particularly in golf — that may never be matched in our time. He lived to see his prophesy regarding tennis fulfilled.

Unable to resist growing commercial pressures and a national fetish for physical fitness, the racket sport went open in 1968. The move triggered a phenomenal boom. In a few years, the number of players in America alone rose from an estimated five million to 30 million to 50 million, depending on whose surveys you believe.

Complexes grew like cabbages. Resorts found they could not build courts fast enough. Equipment companies had to undertake emergency expansion to meet demands. Prize money escalated.

Leading players, such as Jimmy Connors, Chris Evert, Arthur Ashe and Billie Jean King, became instant millionaires.

For the tennis player, buff or manufacturer, it was a dream world, with one tremendous flaw. The sport lacked leadership — and still does. There is no captain to guide the ship. This is where Corcoran, if the tennis brass had been more farseeing, could have been a tremendous asset.

The frailties of this runaway monster were never more evident than at Wimbledon's 100-year birthday party, now entering its final week.

Davis Cup nations are feuding over racial issues, threatening walkouts and change of format. The International Lawn Tennis Association, which purports to be the ruling power, is a sham — all bombast, no clout.

The game has no uniform rules. Wimbledon plays one game, on grass. America and most of the rest of the world play another, on asphalt or clay. They all use different scoring systems. The game is without discipline.

Tennis could have used Freddie the Cork.

Minnesota Twins Top Chisox In Slugfest, 19-12

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

It was the kind of game that could have caused the electronic scoreboard to blow a fuse.

—Glenn Adams knocked in eight runs, a Minnesota Twins record.

—Rod Carew batted in six runs and scored five as he had four hits to raise his batting average to .403.

—The Chicago White Sox blasted four home runs ... and lost the game.

“They went at it like a couple of street fighters who came out swinging and they never stopped,” said White Sox Manager Bob Lemon. “It was a good game for fan appeal and concessions, but it might kill a manager.”

The Twins won the slugfest 19-12 before a Minnesota regular-season record home crowd of 46,963.

In other American League games Sunday, Cleveland defeated Detroit 5-2 in the opener while Detroit won the nightcap 3-2; Toronto blanked Baltimore 2-0; New York edged Boston 5-4; Milwaukee downed Seattle 8-6; Kansas City and Oakland split a pair, Oakland winning the opener 7-3 and the Royals the nightcap 9-3 and California swept a pair from Texas by identical 4-3 scores, the firstgame victory coming in 11 innings.

Adams smashed a grand slam homer, doubled in two runs and chased in single runs with a single and sacrifice fly. Carew homered, doubled and singled twice as the Twins set a club record with the 19 runs.

The victory also allowed Minnesota to regain first place by one game over the White Sox in the AL West.

Yankees 5, Red Sox 4
Roy White scored on Paul Blair's single in the ninth inning to boost New York over Boston, sweeping the three-game series with the AL East Division leaders.

Boston had tied the game in the top of the ninth when Tommy Helms singled in two runs and Steve Dillard came home on an infield out. But the Yankees loaded the bases in the bottom of the inning and Blair slapped a single through the drawn-in Red Sox infield.

Brewers 8, Mariners 6
A grand slam home run by Cecil Cooper with two out in the ninth inning lifted Milwaukee to its come-from-behind victory over Seattle.

Mike Caldwell, 1-0, got the victory and Enrique Romo, 5-5, the loss, both in relief.

Blue Jays 2, Orioles 0
Pitcher Pete Vuckovich struck out 12 and gave up only six hits as he out-dueled Baltimore's Jim Palmer and posted the first-ever shutout for Toronto.

The Blue Jays scored an unearned run in the fifth and Ron Fairly singled home a run in the eighth. Palmer, 8-9, has won only once since May 28.

A's 7-3, Royals 3-9
Hal McRae's single chased home two runs in Kansas City's six-run fifth inning in the nightcap to give the Royals a split of their doubleheader with Oakland.

The A's snapped a four-game losing streak in the opener, paced by Jeff Newman's four hits. A seldom-used catcher, Newman had the first 4-for-4 day by an Oakland batter since A's owner Charles O. Finley promised a $1,000 award for such a performance.

Indians 5-2, Tigers 2-3
Cleveland and Detroit split a doubleheader, the Indians taking the opener behind home runs by Buddy Bell and Paul Dade and the Tigers the second game as Ben Oglivie and Milt May each drove in a run in the bottom of the ninth inning.

Cleveland had gone ahead 2-1 on a two-run single by Ron Pruitt in the top of the ninth in the second game. But Detroit came up with two runs to give rookie Bob Sykes, 1-2, his first major league victory.

Rick Waits raised his record to 5-0 in the opener, working the first seven innings.

Angels 4-4, Rangers 3-3
1st game 11 innings
California swept a doubleheader from Texas behind Ron Jackson's bases-loaded 11th-inning single in the opener and a three-run rally in the seventh inning of the nightcap.

Jackson single came with the bases loaded in the first game. Don Baylor broke out of a hitting slump with a home run and two singles in the second game to pace the second-game victory.

Reliever Paul Hartzell, 3-5, was credited with victories in both games.

Syracuse Defeats Richmond In 11, 7-6

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dell Alston walked, got to second on a sacrifice, stole third and scored on a wild throw to give Syracuse a 7-6 International League baseball victory in 11 innings Sunday.

In other games, Tidewater split two with Columbus, winning 5-2, then losing 6-2. Rochester beat Pawtucket 9-4, while Toledo and Charleston had a day off.

Syracuse grabbed a 4-0 lead after three innings, but Richmond tied it and then went ahead by one before Syracuse regained a 6-5 advantage.

Richmond's Jeff Geach singled in Jim Breazeale in the seventh to send the game into extra innings.

Bob Hazestad Wins Colorado TransAm

GARRETTSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Bob Hazestad of Denver, Colo., drove a turbo Porsche 934 to victory in the Category II class race Sunday and finished first overall in the Sports Car Club of America's fourth TransAm event at Nelson Ledges Race Course.

Hazestad beat Peter Gregg, who led for 30 of the 50 laps in the Category II class race for cars prepared to meet international rules, by 12.364 seconds.

Hazestad, who qualified fourth on Saturday, took home $2,500. He was followed by Ludwig Heimrath of Scarboro, Ont., John Bauer of Escadero, Calif., and Hal Shaw Jr. of Vail, Colo.

Ex-Pro Cager Chief Walter Kennedy Dies

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — Former National Basketball Association Commissioner Walter Kennedy has left a legacy of change that resulted in the betterment of basketball.

The professional basketball world, which grew up under his firm but gentle guidance, reacted with deep regret to his death Sunday night.

Kennedy, who was 64, died of cancer at St. Joseph's Hospital in Stamford, Conn.

NBA Commissioner Lawrence O'Brien, who succeeded Kennedy in 1975, said: "Speaking from my heart, I have admired Walter Kennedy for the last two decades, first from his reputation, then from our personal acquaintance.

"No one has made more of a contribution to sports and basketball in particular than he did. It was a challenge for me to succeed him and I know that he will be sorely missed by the NBA staff and all our members across the country."

Kennedy was the 49-year-old mayor of Stamford, Conn., when he was chosen to replace 73-year-old Marice Podoloff, who retired Sept. 1, 1963.

"I do not anticipate any more difference with the nine men (the number of owners in 1963) than I had as mayor of a city of 100,000 people," Kennedy said on being named commissioner. "Nobody ever looks for Utopia because you know you'll never find it."

When Kennedy took office, his two major objectives were to return the NBA to national television and to expand the league. He accomplished both. Today there are 22 teams in the NBA, which boasts strong local and network television support.

Kennedy, who called himself "a man for my time" during his 12 years as commissioner of the major pro basketball league, had wanted to be a commissioner for life. However, he retired in 1975 because he was fed up with the high-pressure world of sports. The continuous congressional hearings, the lawyers, the high priced contracts, somehow didn't fit into his world.

"I'm retiring because of my health and because I think this is a new era," Kennedy said in an interview about three months before he retired on June 1, 1975.

"John's Y group is jogging to Peoria. I do hope he'll rinse out his tennis shoes!"

Jogging is one of the best conditioning activities that everybody can do. It's also one of the easiest.

At the Y we have things up. Joggers set the pace and distance that will work best for him or her. John's group may jog all the way to Peoria (18,000 laps). Others may be encouraged to do one slow lap followed by heavy breathing, backs flat on mat.

The Y is more than a place to shoot baskets or get a mind-busting workout. It's people who know the body helping people who know their bodies need help. Test over and see for yourself.

Tom Watson Wins Western Open Tilt

OAK BROOK, Ill. (AP) — With a stroke of luck, Tom Watson overcame his own blundering and putting problems to win his fourth tournament of the 1977 pro golf tour.

He admitted he played poorly on the hole that clinched his one-stroke victory Sunday in the Western Open.

Heading into the 17th hole, the Masters king held a oneshot lead over Johnny Miller and Wally Armstrong. Ahead of him was a tough, par-four hole with a pair of sand traps and trees on the left side of the fairway.

He aimed for the bunkers, intending the ball to fade to the right and the middle of the fairway. It didn't. Playing his second shot from a hard dirt lie in the rough, he made a fine recovery as the ball landed on the rear fringe of the green, leaving a 16-foot putt.

"It was entirely too hard. But it hit the back of the cup and went in," said

Watson. "If it missed the hole, it's five or six feet past the hole."

Watson's birdie gave him a two-stroke margin and provided the cushion that enabled him to three-putt from 20 feet for a bogey on the 18th hole and still take his second Western Open crown in four years.

Watson, who earned $40,000 for the victory to push his tourleading earnings to $269,115, won with a five-under-par 283, a stroke ahead of Miller and Armstrong, who shot 69 and 70, respectively on Sunday. Tom Weiskopf, with three double bogeys and two eagles in an erratic round of 71, was one stroke back at 285.

Watson rebounded from a 75 Saturday to fire a three-under-par 69 Sunday.

The difference between the rounds, he said, was "stupidity. Yesterday I played one shot I wasn't ready for and on one shot used the wrong club."

Jogging is one of the best conditioning activities that everybody can do. It's also one of the easiest.

At the Y we even things up. Joggers set the pace and distance that will work best for him or her. John's group may jog all the way to Peoria (8,000 laps). Others may be encouraged to do one slow lap followed by heavy breathing, backs flat on mat.

The Y is more than a place to shoot baskets or get a mind-resting workout. It's people who know the body helping people who know their bodies need help. Trot over and see for yourself.

Tom Watson Wins Western Open Tilt

OAK BROOK, Ill. (AP) — With a stroke of luck, Tom Watson overcame his own blundering and putting problems to win his fourth tournament of the 1977 pro golf tour.

He admitted he played poorly on the hole that clinched his one-stroke victory Sunday in the Western Open.

Heading into the 17th hole, the Masters king held a oneshot lead over Johnny Miller and Wally Armstrong. Ahead of him was a tough, par-four hole with a pair of sand traps and trees on the left side of the fairway.

He aimed for the bunkers, intending the ball to fade to the right and the middle of the fairway. It didn't. Playing his second shot from a hard dirt lie in the rough, he made a fine recovery as the ball landed on the rear fringe of the green, leaving a 16-foot putt.

"It was entirely too hard. But it hit the back of the cup and went in," said

Watson. "If it missed the hole, it's five or six feet past the hole."

Watson's birdie gave him a two-stroke margin and provided the cushion that enabled him to three-putt from 20 feet for a bogey on the 18th hole and still take his second Western Open crown in four years.

Watson, who earned $40,000 for the victory to push his tourleading earnings to $269,115, won with a five-under-par 283, a stroke ahead of Miller and Armstrong, who shot 69 and 70, respectively on Sunday. Tom Weiskopf, with three double bogeys and two eagles in an erratic round of 71, was one stroke back at 285.

Watson rebounded from a 75 Saturday to fire a three-under-par 69 Sunday.

The difference between the rounds, he said, was "stupidity. Yesterday I played one shot I wasn't ready for and on one shot used the wrong club."

Warmer Weather Grows Garage Sales

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — Be honest. You never liked that elephant foot umbrella Aunt Martha gave you for Christmas. Nor those hand-me-down, glow-in-the-dark neckties from Uncle Willie.

The answer? Hold a garage sale.

With the arrival of warm weather, garage sales are booming.

But they aren't always held in the garage.

Sometimes they're called attic sales, sometimes back-porch sales. Sometimes even divorce sales.

But whenever you see somebody turning some part of his dwelling into a second-hand store and peddling off whatever it was that kept him from getting into the back of his closet or the corner of his attic, it is, in essence, a garage sale.

People are hungry to go to garage sales. Sometimes, of course, neighbors welcome the chance to pick over your old belongings out of curiosity. But some come to buy.

One Rock Island woman who held her first garage sale recently said that several persons appeared the night before and asked for first crack at the goods. Sunup found two elderly women planted on her front porch, the first in line.

"Grandmothers come to the sales a lot looking for things for their grandchildren," the Rock Island woman said. "But we've also had a doctor and two ministers here, too. Children's clothes are the best sellers, along with junk in general and some sea shells we had. And men come looking for tools."

But before you hold your own garage sale, a few pointers.

Some cities, such as Rock Island, require permits.

Also, you might want to check on what the sales tax situation is.

Beyond that, a successful sale is the result of planning. How much should the items cost? How much should they be refurbished? How will you keep records of what is sold? How should you advertise.

After that you just back your car out of the garage and have your youngsters start moving out the goods. Let's see...How about those purple and green argyle socks that you never wore. And that old ukelele with the broken string...

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Say's Abby A Closet Sexist

DEAR ABBY: Don't tell me you've been a closet sexist all these years. How can you say flatly, "There is no such thing as a 'frigid dear'-only clumsy men"?

I thought that satisfying sex was achieved through the loving cooperation of both partners, and not dependent on the male's aggressiveness or degree of expertise.

Or maybe you will agree to another sexist corollary: "There are no impotent men, only emasculating women." That way you can offend BOTH sexes.

EQUAL PARTNER

DEAR PARTNER: Generalizations are dangerous, but you may have stumbled on a truism. I wouldn't be surprised if more than half of the cases of male impotency were due to "emasculating women." Witness the number of men who can't perform at home but are tigers with their mistresses.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for four months to a man who was married and divorced twice, and unless his terrible table manners improve, he is going to be a three-time loser.

I saw him eat a few times before we were married, and was appalled at his table manners, but I thought I could change him after we were married.

Maybe it's a case of not being able to teach an old dog new tricks, but every time I mention the way he eats he becomes irritated and the battle is on. When he starts to eat, he puts his face right down into the plate like a dog, and he doesn't speak or look up until he's cleaned his plate.

He is a good man, a good provider, and believe it or not, he's well-educated. How he escaped learning table manners is a mystery to me.

I love him and don't want to divorce him, but he's repulsive at mealtime. Any suggestions on how to save an otherwise good marriage?

NEAR ATLANTA

DEAR ATLANTA: Yes. Don't bring it up when he's eating, but catch him when he is in a good mood and tell him how important it is to you that he improve his table manners. If he's as wonderful as you say he is in all other respects, you may have to be a little more tolerant. Divorcing a man because he lacks table manners is like chopping off a man's head to get rid of the dandruff.

DEAR ABBY: We have a big, headstrong, disrespectful 17-year-old son who uses abusive language and breaks the furniture in order to get his way.

Now he is demanding the $900 he earned and put away in a savings account.

My husband wants to give it all to him right now, and then completely disown the boy when he turns 18 (legal age).

I want to hold back some of that money to pay for the damage he's done to our house and furniture, plus a deposit for further damage until he leaves. What do you think, Abby?

OREGON MOM

DEAR MOM: I would not give him any of the money until he reaches legal age. And then I would deduct the cost of repairing the damage.

Clamp News Lid On Blast Probe

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Akron police say they are clamping down on information relating to the investigation of last week's sewer explosion because of a news leak.

Police Chief Robert Prease said he decided to put Maj. Philip Barnes in charge of information relating to the investigation after someone "leaked" to the news media that two employees of a strike-bound rubber company are suspected to be connected with the blast.

However, police did not deny the report.

Prease said all information relating to the investigation must go through Barnes.

A massive explosion ripped up city streets last Thursday after volatile chemicals were dumped into Akron sewer lines.

The suspects are employees of Patch Rubber Co., which has been struck by members of Teamsters Local 348 for five weeks.

Investigators said the men on the advice of their attorneys refused to answer questions about the morning blast.

"The investigation is narrowing down," said Prease, who has assigned six detectives to work fulltime on the case.

The union provided police with schedules of picketers at the rubber plant, and the detectives have questioned about 25 union members.

Seven persons who were near the plant between 6 p.m. and 11 p.m. Wednesday have been identified, police said.

Meanwhile, Akron Service Director David W. Zimmer said city officials have stopped trying to estimate the cost of repairing damage caused by the explosion. The latest estimate was $10 million.

"It's getting bigger all the time, said Bill Wilkerson, acting city engineer.

The surface of one street was removed by city work crews to relieve pressure on the sewer, located some 10 feet below street level. Wilkerson said soil below part of the street was sinking due to the explosion.

Freshwater Fish Research Funded

WOOSTER (AP) — A state agency has provided funds to continue research on the utilization of Lake Erie's freshwater drum fish, according to the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center here.

The Ohio Department of Natural Resources Division of Wildlife recently provided a research contract of $23,250 for the study.

Another Department of Natural Resources contract was approved in cooperation with the Wyandot County Commissioners and Auditor. It will develop a computerized land and resource data system for use in tax assessments of the county's agricultural land.

Both studies will be conducted by the center's department of natural resources.

Nursing Home Data Gathered

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Available information on the approximately 1,100 nursing homes in Ohio and alternatives to nursing home care is pulled together in a 24-page booklet published by the Ohio Commission on Aging.

Director Martin A. Janis said the first 25,000 copies cost less than $10,000.

"And that's for writing, editing and printing," he said.

"We wanted to put together a factual, yet simple guide to all facets of nursing home care," he said.

"We wanted to establish a way where, when there is criticism, people would have some guides to help work things out, and we are in the throes of developing that."

Janis said the booklet is available free to the approximately 63,000 persons living in nursing homes in the state and to anyone else with a need for nursing home information.

The booklet, in a magazine format, is entitled, "How To Select An Ohio Nursing Home." It discusses different levels of care, how to determine when nursing home care is necessary and what types of facilities are available, Medicare and Medicaid programs and what they pay for, nursing home regulations, how to make complaints, the cost of nursing home care and patients' rights.

The book describes, for example, a number of alternatives to nursing home care, such as homemaker services, home health care programs, nutritional and mental health services.

It tells how to learn of programs offering financial aid to the elderly and where to find legal and consumer service assistance.

The booklet tells how a person—patient or otherwise—should proceed in making a complaint about a nursing home incident or condition, and where the complaint should be sent.

"We have an ombudsman program and are in the process of developing a network of 12 area agencies, to help with that," Janis said. "We have a program whereby patient rights can be properly directed and this is all in the developmental stage."

"We want to touch each county in Ohio with programs for senior citizens. Right now we have six or seven area agencies in various states of development.

"We hope to have all 12 in a couple of months and they will also be on an ombudsman status."

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Anyone facing a serious criminal charge, if too poor to hire his own lawyer, is entitled to have one provided by the state. But which lawyer? May the accused person insist on naming whomever he pleases? Could he, for example, demand "the best lawyer in town"?

In most cases courts have refused to give him that much leeway. One judge commented:

"The Constitution does not assure every man that only a leader of the bar will speak for him. Even the State cannot command such representation; most criminal cases are prosecuted by young men who have yet to be acclaimed but who are not in the least unequal to their responsibility on that account."

Courts are also wary when an indigent defendant, after being found guilty, blames the outcome on bad work by his lawyer.

"Monday morning quarterbacks," said one court in dismissing such a complaint, "always would have won the game. Hindsight is easier than foresight."

Nevertheless, even though the indigent defendant is not entitled to special treatment, he is indeed entitled to competent representation. If he does not get that, he has been cheated of his constitutional right to a fair trial.

One man pleaded guilty to a fraud charge only because his court-appointed lawyer warned him — mistakenly that otherwise he faced a long term in jail.

Another man, convicted of burglary, pointed out that his court-appointed lawyer was functioning in an alcoholic haze during most of the trial.

In both of these cases the defendant was held entitled to a new hearing. Such proceedings, as one judge put it, were "mockery of justice."

He added:
"Even the worst criminal is entitled to his day in court."

Your Tiger

Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Despite possible obstacles, you could win many benefits from this day's efforts. Take steps to launch long-range programs, to complete unfinished tasks.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Accentuate the positive in your thinking if you would make the real advancement possible now. Routine activities may be happily supplemented by some new interests.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Favorable aspects stimulate originality and some chance-taking - IF reasonable. Don't go out on the proverbial limb, however, and DO avoid extremism.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Tentatively reject uncertainties - until you have more facts and a better guarantee of success. Ask counsel of well-informed persons.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): You may run into unexpected opposition, some rough areas. Be ready, take all with your innate common sense, and try all the harder to achieve worthwhile objectives.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): You are inclined to be extremely critical of others, but the shoe may be on the other foot now. Don't be resentful. Listen - and learn!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Unique ideas, thoughtfully presented - and at the right time - could bring new gains now. A good period, also for making long-range plans.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Channel efforts where they will serve advantageously, where your unusual talents are recognized and appreciated. Don't be led off a constructive course.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): The Sagittarian is noted for his generosity, but don't let excessive sympathy or emotions divert your altruism into dubious causes. Use good judgment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Planetary influences beneficent, generally sponsoring new advances. A chance here to exercise your gift of enterprise, which is considerable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You rarely muddle through things in inefficient fashion, but may now tend to be indifferent, careless in word or deed. Curb such inclinations.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Certain suggestions must be ignored; others accepted quickly, put to discerning use. The right choices can result in a field day.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely sensitive, compassionate and responsive individual, devoted to home, family and friends. You tend to be jealous and over-possessive with loved ones, however, and should try to curb these traits since they tend to "strangle" the very ones whose affection you crave. You have a lively imagination and a delightful sense of humor; would make an excellent writer or entertainer. You could also succeed in the law - especially of the criminal variety - but, if not attracted to any of the aforementioned fields, may find your greatest happiness in science - especially medicine. Your affinity for the unknown and the untried, coupled with your investigative mind, would also make you a brilliant detective. Birthdate of: Henry VIII of England.

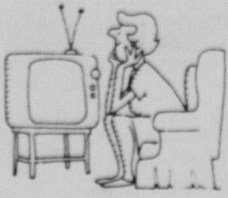

Costly Education

MEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — Without use of a computer, Tufts University sophomore, has calculated the cost of his education, and decided it isn't exactly cheap.

"This year I've attended classes 12 hours a week for 28 weeks, or a total of 336 hours," Manners said. "It cost me $5,879. Simple division tells me that amounts of $17.49 an hour. I guess I should think twice before I ever again cut a class."

Next fall, with costs going up, each class will cost $18.98.

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Avery Schreiber, the man with the jolly face and bushy mustache, sat in a corner of the posh chow hall here, braced for all intruders who might dash up and say, "Crunch."

For six years, he's put the bite on a corn chip in those snack food commercials, causing minor earthquakes each time. The pay is excellent, the fame greater than he's ever known.

Alas, he sighed, "Everywhere I go I find a maitre d' coming up with a bag of Doritos and saying, 'Crunch.' Even in some of the gourmet hot-shot spots."

"Truck drivers park in front of me, pull me over, say 'Crunch' and have a big laugh. Meanwhile, traffic backs up. Things like that."

Fortunately, crunching hasn't bitten that much into his performing life. For example, he recently finished a part in the new movie by British comic Marty Feldman, "The Last Remake of Beau Geste."

And this fall, he'll do a serious drama for public TV, "The Ascent of Mt. Fuji."

For laughs, he'll be seen next fall in a new syndicated TV series with the distinguished rock music group, Sha Na Na. He'll play a joke-cracking cabbie called "Herb Gross, the Hack Comic."

Schreiber, 40, is a Chicago native who got started in 1960 as a member of Chicago's famed "Second City" improvisational troupe. It was in said troupe three years later that he met Boston comic Jack Burns.

Which led to creation of the sketch comedy team of Burns and Schreiber, who quickly established names for themselves on late-night talk shows, variety shows and on the concert circuit.

The team split up once in 1970, Schreiber says, after deciding the act had gone as far as it could, but reunited for a school benefit a few years later. That led to an ABC special, then a summer series.

About 2½ years ago, Schreiber added, there was another parting — "Jack wanted to write and produce and I wanted to perform."

"I get my kicks in the theater, in live performances," added the mustachioed comic, who moved here permanently from New York nine years ago with his wife, Shelley, and their two children.

He said he's recently done a few turns on the stage at Los Angeles' Improvisation comedy club, working solo, "but standup comedy is kind of difficult," he wryly admitted.

During the interview, no one approached the man who bites corn chips on TV and said, "Crunch." Schreiber looked quite relieved.

But when he stepped outside in the Beverly Hills sunlight to pose for a quick picture beneath a palm tree, a good-looking blonde driving by in a VW gave him a big smile and said something, "Crunch," is what she said.

Frankincense is the gum resin of certain trees of the genus Boswellia. It was used as a fourth part of the Jewish incense of the Sanctuary and several ancient cultures valued it as a remedy for such varied problems as leprosy and ulcers.

On April 2, 1792 the U.S. government passed an act providing for a national coinage and the establishment of the first U.S. Mint, which, at the time, was in the Philadelphia.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

FOR TUESDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Despite possible obstacles, you could win many benefits from this day's efforts. Take steps to launch long-range programs, to complete unfinished tasks.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Accentuate the positive in your thinking if you would make the real advancement possible now. Routine activities may be happily supplemented by some new interests.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Favorable aspects stimulate originality and some chance-taking - IF reasonable. Don't go out on the proverbial limb, however, and DO avoid extremism.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Tentatively reject uncertainties - until you have more facts and a better guarantee of success. Ask counsel of well-informed persons.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): You may run into unexpected opposition, some rough areas. Be ready, take all with your innate common sense, and try all the harder to achieve worthwhile objectives.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): You are inclined to be extremely critical of others, but the shoe may be on the other foot now. Don't be resentful. Listen - and learn!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Unique ideas, thoughtfully presented - and at the right time - could bring new gains now. A good period, also for making long-range plans.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Channel efforts where they will serve advantageously, where your unusual talents are recognized and appreciated. Don't be led off a constructive course.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): The Sagittarian is noted for his generosity, but don't let excessive sympathy or emotions divert your altruism into dubious causes. Use good judgment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Planetary influences beneficent, generally sponsoring new advances. A chance here to exercise your gift of enterprise, which is considerable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You rarely muddle through things in inefficient fashion, but may now tend to be indifferent, careless in word or deed. Curb such inclinations.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Certain suggestions must be ignored; others accepted quickly, put to discerning use. The right choices can result in a good day.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely sensitive, compassionate and responsive individual, devoted to home, family and friends. You tend to be jealous and over-possessive with loved ones, however, and should try to curb these traits since they tend to "strangle" the very ones whose affection you crave. You have a lively imagination and a delightful sense of humor; would make an excellent writer or entertainer. You could also succeed in the law - especially of the criminal variety - but, if not attracted to any of the aforementioned fields, may find your greatest happiness in science - especially medicine. Your affinity for the unknown and the untold, coupled with your investigative mind, would also make you a brilliant detective. Birthdate of: Henry VIII of England.

Costly Education

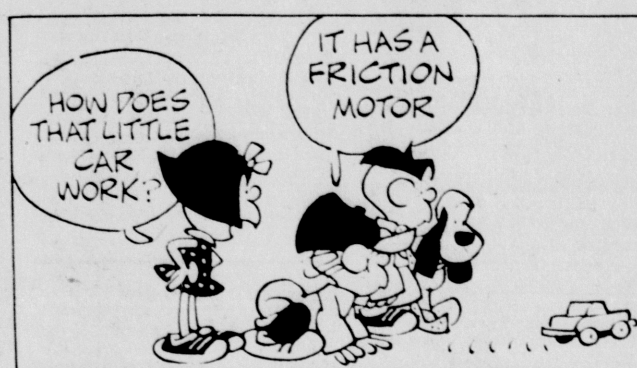

MEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — Without use of a computer, Tim Manners, Tufts University sophomore, has calculated the cost of his education, and decided it isn't exactly cheap.

"This year I've attended classes 12 hours a week for 28 weeks, or a total of 336 hours," Manners said. "It cost me $5,879. Simple division tells me that amounts of $17.49 an hour. I guess I should think twice before I ever again cut a class."

Next fall, with costs going up, each class will cost $18.98.

Lyndon Baines Johnson was born on Aug. 27, 1908, on a farm near Stonewall, Tex. He was the eldest of five children.

1. Card of Thanks

This is the only way we know how to express our sincere gratitude to all who were so helpful, thoughtful, and kind to share in our sorrow during the tragedy that struck our lives on May 25 when our son and husband, Lenny Hardman, was taken from this life to go be with Jesus. Through this we hope everyone will know how grateful we are for all the kind deeds, floral contributions, donations of money to Janice and boys and the church, food, cards, and most of all your prayers. We did not realize we had so many wonderful neighbors and friends and relatives. Over 1,000 registered at the funeral home, over 400 attended the funeral, and 127 floral arrangements. A very special thanks to our pastor, Lynn Summers, Pastor Donald Cummins and their families. To all the other pastors that came to comfort and share in our sorrow when it was needed so much. God bless the Sandlins, the Burwick Church of God, Christian Union Church on Thompson Road, to Dr. Anderson and the nurse in the emergency room. Their help and consoling words meant so much. Thanks to the ones who sent cards, food, and money that we do not know. God bless you. Our hearts go out to the Hart Logging Company. Our love and prayers are with you. Only God can help them at this time and we only ask they receive His help. To all of you and our Brothers and Sisters in Christ who held us up in prayer, kind deeds, encouraging words that gave us strength to carry on, it is a blessing to know so many cared and helped in so many ways. God bless each of you. Our thanks to the baseball and basketball teams that Lenny had the privilege to work with and loved so much. To the Wellman Funeral Home, we will always be grateful for the fine work they did and comforting words and prayers. If there is anyone we have left out, forgive us. God richly bless everyone who helped in any way and we shall always be grateful to you. Love to everyone. Our son was the assistant pastor at the Laurelville Church of God. He died at the same age as Jesus when he died on the cross for you and me. His ministry was the same number of years and they both were carpenters. His love will live on in the hearts of many, just as Jesus' love has gone on in the hearts and lives of people and will until eternity.

The Donald Hardman family

1. Card of Thanks

This is the only way we know how to express our sincere gratitude to all who were so helpful, thoughtful, and kind to share in our sorrow during the tragedy that struck our lives on May 25 when our son and husband, Lenny Hardman, was taken from this life to go be with Jesus. Through this we hope everyone will know how grateful we are for all the kind deeds, floral contributions, donations of money to Janice and boys and the church, food, cards, and most of all your prayers. We did not realize we had so many wonderful neighbors and friends and relatives. Over 1,000 registered at the funeral home, over 400 attended the funeral, and 127 floral arrangements. A very special thanks to our pastor, Lynn Summers, Pastor Donald Cummins and their families. To all the other pastors that came to comfort and share in our sorrow when it was needed so much. God bless the Sandlins, the Burwick Church of God, Christian Union Church on Thompson Road, to Dr. Anderson and the nurse in the emergency room. Their help and consoling words meant so much. Thanks to the ones who sent cards, food, and money that we do not know. God bless you. Our hearts go out to the Hart Logging Company. Our love and prayers are with you. Only God can help them at this time and we only ask they receive His help. To all of you and our Brothers and Sisters in Christ who held us up in prayer, kind deeds, encouraging words that gave us strength to carry on, it is a blessing to know so many cared and helped in so many ways. God bless each of you. Our thanks to the baseball and basketball teams that Lenny had the privilege to work with and loved so much. To the Wellman Funeral Home, we will always be grateful for the fine work they did and comforting words and prayers. If there is anyone we have left out, forgive us. God richly bless everyone who helped in any way and we shall always be grateful to you. Love to everyone. Our son was the assistant pastor at the Laurelville Church of God. He died at the same age as Jesus when he died on the cross for you and me. His ministry was the same number of years and they both were carpenters. His love will live on in the hearts of many, just as Jesus' love has gone on in the hearts and lives of people and will until eternity.

Can't Guarantee No FBI Excesses

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you're looking for an ironclad assurance that the FBI is obeying the law these days, don't go to Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell. And don't try FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley.

As remarkable as this may seem, neither is willing to vouch for the bureau's lawfulness.

Both say they believe and hope no wrongdoing is occurring and they're taking steps to prevent it. But they leave the public with lingering doubt, perhaps because they have some doubts of their own.

At a House subcommittee hearing recently, Bell showed signs of the frustration he feels at trying to come to grips with the traditionally secret society of the FBI.

Are you convinced, he was asked, that the FBI no longer burglarizes homes and offices, opens private mail, illegally taps telephones and plots dirty tricks against political activists?

"I don't want to say whether anything is going on or is not going on. There are 20,000 people in the FBI. It's too big. I wouldn't know that," he confessed.

With the optimism of a new man on the job, Bell said the continuing Justice Department investigation of FBI misdeeds should settle the question, and "I think I will reach the point" of certainty that no wrongdoing is occurring.

Kelley may not share Bell's optimism because he knows from his own sad experience that a man takes risks if he swears to the FBI's good behavior.

Two years ago, he confidently asserted that there were no FBI burglaries against domestic targets after 1966. He trusted the FBI men who had told him that.

As it turned out, there were numerous FBI burglaries after 1966, many of them carried out in New York in the bureau's frantic search for Weather Underground fugitives.

Department investigators have spent more than a year probing evidence about the burglaries and illegal mail-opening and wiretap operations. As a result, one FBI man faces serious criminal charges and Bell is considering whether to authorize additional indictments.

In a nationally televised interview last August, Kelley uncomfortably admitted, "I know that I was deceived. I think they should have told me, at least not make me stand out on a limb with this knowledge they had and should have imparted to me."

Facing reporters at a news conference two days later, he was asked for assurance that burglaries were finally a thing of the past.

"I wish I could say categorically, unquestionably, that this is not going on." But he could not. He had been deceived and from that, he had learned he "can no longer make categorical, sweeping statements."

And he's sticking with that position even today.

for anyone trying to find out what goes on in the bureau. As he put it, the "internal operating controls" aren't very good.

Or as other department officials repeatedly complain, "They tell you what you ask and no more. You have to know exactly how to phrase the question."

The key is understanding the FBI's language, an idiom far different from ordinary English and even more obscure than the jargon of other government agencies. The purpose often is to communicate the key information only to the few who understand the code and to conceal it from all others.

For example, FBI files often refer to information obtained from "contact with highly confidential sources." That has turned out to be a frequent code phrase for an FBI burglary.

The curious language is not the only barrier to enlightenment about the FBI's activities. Few if any records were kept on some operations, particularly those most likely to embarrass the bureau. The post-1966 New York burglaries, for example, were recorded only in a separate set of files in a safe in the New York field office and were not discovered in a search of other files in that office and bureau headquarters.

Bell says he wants to correct the situation and he's telling FBI agents to get their instructions in writing so there's a clear line of accountability.

If there are any questionable operations, Bell wants the records on paper, identifying everyone responsible from the street agent all the way to the top.

FLOOD VICTIM — Although the Cadillac Coupe de Ville in the background was covered with flood waters in West Virginia, it is still useful as an automotive learning device. Clifton Motor Sales donated this car to the Pickaway-Ross Vocational Center to be used in the auto body and auto mechanics departments. Jeff Clifton hands the keys to Malcome Tittler, right, senior auto body instructor. Clifton's service manager Rick Stacy, left, initiated the idea of obtaining the car from the flooded area. Also watching is Ray Detty, junior class auto body instructor at the school. Clifton said any damaged caddy not donated for instructional purposes is crunched up in a three-foot cube with none of the parts removed. The instructors said students in auto body classes will disassemble and reassemble the car, tear it down and repaint it. Senior classes will inspect and repair the motor and transmission.

Oil Industry Threatens Pullout

NEW YORK (AP) — President Carter's energy proposal now before Congress includes a tax that would force much of the $40 billion petrochemical industry out of the country, industry spokesmen warn. And that would mean the loss of many of the 390,000 American jobs now directly related to the industry, the spokesmen say.

Administration spokesmen refuse to comment directly on the industry threat. But they say the industry is going to be damaged anyway, if not by higher taxes — aimed at conservation — then by a scarcity of petroleum, the major raw material of petrochemicals. The policy does not "attempt to appease one interest or another," a spokesman said.

The main petrochemical-industry objections are to Carter's proposed tax on oil at the well and an additional tax on major industrial users of oil. The industry says the taxes would raise costs so much that foreign competitors would have an advantage.

The consumer would pay more in any case, either for more expensive foreign products or for domestic products whose prices would be increased to offset the new taxes.

Under the President's plan, the first tax, a $3 levy, would bring prices up to the world level by 1980; the "user" tax — applied primarily to the petrochemical industry — would start at 90 cents a barrel in 1979 and increase to $3 by 1985.

But the petrochemical industry says the taxes, currently being considered by the House Ways and Means Committee, would increase "feedstock" costs from $3 below world price levels now to $3 above the levels by 1985. Feedstock is oil that is used as a raw material in a refinery or petrochemical plant.

"The question is: What do you do if you're non-competitive?" said Robert Mitchell, executive vice president of Celanese Corp. "The first thing is that we lose our export markets ($10 billion of the $40 billion in annual sales). Then, the foreign competitor can compete in the U.S."

"This positive impact on our nation's balance of trade would be lost over the next few years as the Carter taxes phase in," said Ronald S. Wishart, director of energy policy for Union Carbide. "... In place of oil imports, we might be importing more chemicals as well as other energy-intensive products such as steel and aluminum."

How would the dozens of U.S. petrochemical firms react?

"Given a free world for investment purposes," Mitchell said, "what will evolve is a shift of the petrochemical industry — assuming a degree of political stability — to the Mideast."

An industry spokesman said firms might simply abandon their American plants if they found that "it was not economically beneficial to run them."

But Jim Bishop, an administration spokesman, added that if Carter's conservation-designed proposals are not accepted, the industry soon will have to deal with critical shortages of raw materials — a problem every bit as serious as increased taxes.

Officials said there are no plans to protect the industry by imposing quotas on imports of petrochemical products.

Head Start Children Show Progress At End Of School Year

Pickaway County pre-school children now graduating from the Head Start Program, have their feet in the schoolroom door preparatory to entering kindergarten when school bells ring in the fall, according to Sarah Culberson, director of the program.

Experiencing their first "togetherness" with children of their own age, the children have progressed from shy, retiring little people to outgoing individuals, learning to share ideas and goals. The child who started in the program September 8 can now express his ideas and is proud of relating them to fellow students.

Children enjoy displaying their good manners learned in the program which is held from 8:30 a.m. until 12 noon for the first session (with a hot lunch), and the second session beginning at noon and ending at 3:30 p.m.

One child politely asked the teacher, "May I pack your plate for you?" This was her interpretation of taking the plate to be washed.

As Head Start Director in the program, Ms. Culberson assessed the needs of the children attending the two classes conducted in the Community United Methodist Church and the Presbyterian Church here in Circleville.

The purpose of the program is to provide children opportunities in language development, social experiences and educational enrichment so they will have a better chance for academic achievement when they enter school.

The program has proven fruitful because many children are benefitting maternally, psychologically and educationally. They are developing concepts, listening and speaking skills, and strengthening their language background.

The Head Start program is under the direction of Ms. Culberson and is only one of the many programs under the leadership of the Pickaway County Community Action Organization headed by Sam Dettra.

As part of it's staff the Head Start program includes one registered nurse, cook, cook's helper, two head teachers, two assistant teachers, two teacher's aides, bus driver, bus driver's helper, two custodians, and volunteers. The program is serving 59 children.

From the time the children arrive in provided transportation until the time they leave following their noontime meal, they express delight in their new experiences. They learn to say "please" and "thank you" as well as to participate in mealtime conversation designed to strengthen their language background.

Good table manners receive praise.

Emphasis is on language development in all areas including music, art, auditory and visual perception, and learning to get along with their companions. Children who learn to listen and be attentive increase their attention span and over-all mental development.

Learning to share as part of a group rather than acting as individuals, they find rules are for the benefit of everyone. Being quiet in the halls is quite an achievement, for many of the children have always enjoyed the freedom of the outdoors. Learning the rewards of achievement in self-development, they are proud of their accomplishments and glow at praise as a group and as individuals.

The child from the rural area is delighted in his first visit to a fire station, post office or dairy, incidents which would not usually impress the child from an urban area. Other field trips that are taken all proved to be well worthwhile.

Parents have expressed their appreciation for the program, noting the development of their children this school year.

Head Start will have graduation Wednesday, June 29, from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. at Ted Lewis Park, Shelter House No. 3.

Farm Bill Crisis Coming In July

OTTAWA, Ohio (AP) — The number of jobs provided for low income Ohio residents under a federally-funded farm program will increase from 218 to 372 on July 1, Charlie Nash, chairman of the Green Thumb Advisory board, said.

The Ohio Farmers Union Green Thumb project is sponsored by the National Farmers Union and funded by the U.S. Department of Labor.

It currently operates in 35 Ohio counties, but an additional 15 counties will receive services with the expansion next month.

The minimum age for employment in the program is 55 and income must be at or below the poverty level for eligibility.

Workers average three days a week on jobs of community service. The work may include beautification, conservation, improvement of public facilities or areas, restoration of historical sites, clerical, health care and educational work.

Interested persons should contact their local employment service office or the State Green Thumb Program office in Ottawa.

Local School Officials Tour Ft. Knox

Two Pickaway County Public School System officials were among twenty educators who recently toured Ft. Knox, Kentucky, as guests of the United States Army Columbus District Recruiting Command.

Edward J. Martin, Superintendent, and E. Miller Hundley, Intermediate Supervisor of the Pickaway County School system, were given a first-hand look and explanation of the various education programs and training on the Army Post.

Hosted by Army Recruiting Headquarters in Columbus, the three-day tour was conducted to show educators the many changes which have taken place in the Army and what the Army can offer today's high school seniors.

The educators were given no preferential treatment.

They toured the post by bus, stayed in the guest housing quarters and ate in the mess halls with the troops.

The units and training sessions which they visited conducted business as usual, and the educators talked freely with the trainees about their experiences in the Army.

Upon their return Hundley stated, "The training I witnessed in the field left nothing to be desired. Trainees were being taught in a safe and humane manner. I left Fort Knox with the feeling that these men, when fully trained, will be able to handle the job they are expected to do, act in defense of our country."

Kung Flewk Performance No Fluke

RIO GRANDE, Ohio (AP) — Kung Flewk flew again here Saturday, proving its record flight was no fluke.

The Japanese blacktailed bantam that holds the world record for prolonged chicken flight displayed its championship form for television cameras.

The superchicken, in a command performance by a Japanese film crew which was filming other attractions in the area, flapped 209 feet, four inches. The best 13 challengers could do was 35 feet, five inches.

Though impressive, Kung Flewk's effort was short of the record 297 feet it sailed while winning the International Chicken Flying Contest here last month.

Kaoru Kanetaka, producer of the travel documentary, said she expects the show of the TV film to spark a chicken flying boom in Japan. She noted that golf surged in popularity after television audiences saw Japan win the Canada Cup in 1957.

The Ohio Chicken Flying Association said it had sent a telegram to Guam asking for information about a report that a chicken there had broken Kung Flewk's record with a 335-foot flight.
